

Sprue candelabra

Fort Standard

The Sprue candelabra by Fort Standard is made from either bronze or aluminium. It takes its raw looking finish from the sand-casting process used to create it. Cast as one single piece, the candelabra has a cone-shaped base and a shallow y-shaped stem and arms. Due to oxidation, this reassuringly heavy item will take on a different patina over time. Something of a beautiful brute, this design expresses itself through both form and finish. Available in bronze or aluminium. Made in Woolwich, UK.
