FALL 2016 COLLECTION

In 2016, HELM learned about growth and travel. From our visits to the artisans in Maine to the time we've spent in Los Angeles, we've learned to marry a love of the Northern coastline with a sensibility for functional, urban design. This is reflected in our use of materials: gold eyelets against rich navy colors, leather soles with hidden grips injected - ripple soles mirror the waves off the coast of Maine and the rich blue suede reminds us of the leather markets in Florence.

Our time in Italy was spent learning from artisans about timeless European methods of shoe construction and visits to Maine always remind us of the beauty and resilience in classic, American style shoe-making.

Please enjoy our offerings in this Fall collection - we hope the boots will accompany you on all your travels now + in the future.
