<http://www.linkedin.com/in/maidenart>

Maiden-Art è un marchio di gioielli e accessori con sede a Milano, fondato da Maristella Colombo nel 2007. Maiden-Art significa Arte Pura, vestire l'Arte. Il mondo di Maiden-Art è contraddistinto da ricerca, innovazione e ironia. Le collezioni di Maiden-Art sono create con il linguaggio dell'eleganza tutta italiana, sofisticata e glamour. Tutte le creazioni sono realizzate esclusivamente con i migliori materiali e totalmente fatte a mano da artigiani italiani. Maiden-Art non è solo un progetto di moda, ma è anche il risultato della fusione tra arte e sperimentazione, attraverso fotografia, video arte e performance. Il marchio Maiden-Art è stato eletto per il progetto Vogue Talents e il suo nome è inserito nella lista dei 140 Emerging Designers di Vogue Italia, grazie ad una ricercata collezione di borsine gioiello per la P/E2011. Nel 2011 Maiden-Art è stato anche scelto come brand Italiano a rappresentare il made in Italy alla prestigiosa fiera Internazionale IFF di Tokyo, grazie alla sponsorizzazione di Hot House-Milano Pret a Porter. Nel Febbraio 2012 la designer di Maiden-Art Maristella Colombo è stata scelta tra i finalisti del prestigioso premio Giovani Imprenditori della provincia di Novara, ricevendo un riconoscimento per il lavoro svolto e per diffondere un prodotto ricercato del Made in Italy nel Mondo. Le collezioni Maiden-Art sono spesso presenti in editoriali di Vogue Italia & Vogue Shopping, Vogue.it, Style.it, Numero, Fashion Press Japan, Fudge & Ginza Magazine Japan, Fashion, Glamour Italia, Elle Italia & Very Elle Accessories, The Ophra Magazine USA, Nylon, Cosmopolitan, Harper's Bazaar, Dazed & Confused ecc...

Maiden-Art is an Italian jewelry and accessories brand based in Milan and founded in 2007 by Maristella Colombo. Maiden-Art means Pure Art, in other words to dress the Art. Its world is made of research, innovation and irony. Maiden-Art collections are created with the language of Italian elegance, sophisticated and glamorous. All creations are made exclusively in the best quality materials and entirely handmade by Italian craftsman. Maiden-Art is not only about fashion, but it's the result of the fusion between art and experimentation. The artistic work of the designer like photography, video art, performance become naturally the inspiration for Maiden-Art's creations. The brand Maiden-Art was selected by Vogue Talents and the brand was included in the list of 140 Emerging Designers of Vogue Italia, thanks to a collection of small precious jewels clutches for P/E2011. Maiden-Art in 2011 and was also selected as a brand to represent the Italian made in Italy at the prestigious International Exhibition IFF Tokyo, thanks to the sponsorship of Hot House-Milano Pret a Porter. In February 2012, the designer of Maiden-Art, Maristella Colombo was selected as a finalist of the prestigious Young Entrepreneurs of the province of Novara, receiving an award for her work and for spreading a Made in Italy product in the World. What they say.../ Che cosa dicono di noi...:

From VOGUE ITALIA - VOGUE.IT 2012:

<http://www.vogue.it/f#en/trends/the-trend-blog/2012/06/maiden-art>

"Le sue sono creazioni complesse, oniriche dal forte impatto visivo, toccando le note di uno stile rock londinese, rivisitato in chiave made in italy. Stiamo parlando di Maristella Colombo, jewellery designer di Maiden-Art, un marchio di accessori e gioielli fondato nel 2007 a Milano. Ma cosa significa Maiden-Art? A primo acchito viene in mente l'amore per l'arte e forse non ci discostiamo nemmeno tanto, infatti il nome è sinonimo di Arte Pura, "vestire l'arte". Il mondo di Maiden-Art è contraddistinto da ricerca, innovazione e ironia. Le collezioni sono progettate con il linguaggio dell'eleganza del sapore italiano. Tutte le creazioni sono realizzate esclusivamente con i migliori materiali e totalmente fatte a mano da artigiani. Maiden-Art non è solo un progetto di moda, ma è anche il risultato della fusione tra arte e sperimentazione, attraverso fotografia, video arte e performance. Insomma vive su quel sottile confine che divide l'arte pura dal fascino del mondo couture."

"Her creations are complex and dreamlike, with a strong visual impact, on the notes of a London, rock and roll style, revisited with a made-in-Italy twist. We are talking about Maristella Colombo, jewellery designer of Maiden-Art, an accessories and jewellery brand founded in 2007 in Milan. What does Maiden-Art mean? At first glance we think of love for art, and maybe we are not that far away, since the name is synonymous with Pure Art, "dressing up art". The world of Maiden-Art is characterized by research, innovation and irony. The collections are designed with the language of elegance and Italian taste. All creations are realized exclusively with high-quality materials and entirely handmade by artisans. Maiden-Art is not just a fashion project, but also the result of blending art with experimentation through photography, video-art and performance. In short, living on the thin boundary that separates pure art from the fascination of couture."

Maiden-Art Metal Pearls Scarf Necklace

"I've been known to rock the Mr. T look, layering on loads of jewelry, but this handcrafted, rose-gold-plated chain necklace is really all you need to jazz up an outfit."
