As is typical for the CYOA brand, the plot offers numerous branching points where any one of multiple choices can drastically alter the course of the story and lead to happy endings or dire consequences. . . . The plots are swift and snappy, and the format, a tried-and-true gimmick that has persisted for decades, lends itself well to multiple rereads and interactivity.

. . . bringing the life of an enslaved person within reach for modern young readers is a feat. For fans of Choose Your Own Adventure books, this historical drama is worth having on the shelf.

History gets a makeover in the new Choose Your Own Adventure Spies series, which plunks readers into exciting scenarios, based on real events, and lets them call the shots . . . [these] books will get kids excited about history.
YOU are America’s first celebrity superhero, Harry Houdini, “The King of Cuffs.” You have enchanted audiences across the United States with your death-defying live escapes. When you challenge local police to defy your skills by locking you up, they grow angry that you always get away. Reporters follow this story, and so do jealous rivals. But one follower of your act has a serious request: with all of your sleight of hand and feats of strength and intelligence, will you, Harry Houdini, become a spy to learn information abroad and help the United States?

ABOUT KATHERINE FACTOR
Katherine Factor is a writer, editor, and educator. She has mentored young writers for decades, having taught at Idyllwild Arts Academy, Interlochen Arts Academy, and in summer programs. A graduate of the Iowa Writers’ Workshop, she is a recipient of an Iowa Arts Council grant and residencies at the Vermont Studio Center and Squaw Valley Community of Writers. Her manuscript, A Sybil Society, was a semi-finalist in the Cleveland State University first book prize in 2017. Her poems and audio work can be found at Interim, The Conversant, Quarterly West, Poets for Living Waters, The Equalizer, DIAGRAM, Colorado Review, Coldfront’s Poets off Poetry, and on textsound.org and soundcloud. Awe, music, travel, and ancient cultures inspire her work—a likely outcome of avidly reading Choose Your Own Adventure books. This is her second children’s book.

BASED ON A TRUE STORY

BY KATHERINE FACTOR
YOU are the world’s first Spy Princess, Noor Inayat Khan. Although you grew up in luxury with all of the best that your American mother and Sufi father could offer, you had dreams of becoming a children’s author and helping people all over the world who you met in your global travels. World War II changed your life, but also showed the world you were one of the bravest women who ever lived. You left your easy life behind to spy for the Resistance as a British secret agent, and became the first female radio operator who entered Nazi-occupied France. Did the lessons of your life prepare you for the realities of war?

ABOUT RANA TAHIR
Rana Tahir is a Kundiman Fellow, a public school substitute teacher, and a teaching associate in the Department of English at Pacific University in Forest Grove, Oregon where she earned her MFA. She was born in Pakistan and raised on the beaches of Kuwait. Tahir’s poetry and prose has been published in various literary publications and magazines such as Catch, The Interlochen Review, and Fresh! Literary Magazine. Her first book of non-fiction, a biography of the poet Countée Cullen, was published in 2016 with Cavendish Square Press. She is excited to return to Portland, Oregon with her husband and hopes to be joined by a cat soon. When not at her desk preparing lesson plans, writing, or researching, she can be found jumping into lakes and rivers during long hikes, even though she always forgets a bathing suit and must sit in the car in her cold, wet clothes on the ride home. She is a Cancer sun and moon, so she never regrets being in water.

YOU are Moe Berg, “the strangest man to ever play baseball.” You’ve played baseball your whole life, and it’s no surprise you were recruited from college to play for the major leagues. But you also speak seven languages, read five newspapers cover to cover every day, and blend into a crowd so easily your friends call you the invisible man. Are you the one person who might stop the Nazis from winning the second World War?

ABOUT BART KING
Bart King is one of America’s top 100 Barts. He is a longtime middle school teacher who has written over 25 books; his projects include an upcoming book on dad jokes, That’s How Eye Roll (2020) and the science-fiction adventure The Drake Equation (Disney Hyperion). He is a recent winner of the Bulwer Lytton Writing Contest’s “Vile Pun” award, and one of Bart’s titles was once Amazon’s bestselling children’s book for a whole day. Oh, and Bart was once called “one of Oregon’s best authors” by someone who then enjoyed a good laugh.
YOU are Mary Bowser, a spy in Virginia. Freed from slavery, you have teamed up with Elizabeth “Bet” Van Lew to form a spy ring of powerful, brave women. You are as quick with your weapon as you are with your mind, and you work secret messages and poisons into everyday objects. Hidden in plain sight, you and your ring change the outcome of the Civil War.

ABOUT KYANDREIA JONES
Kyandreia Jones received her BFA in Creative Writing from Hamilton College. She was born and raised in South Florida. When she thinks of home she likes to muse that she is in a “sunshine state of mind.” Jones’ poetry and prose has been published in various college literary publications and magazines such as Red Weather, Grasping Roots, The Black List Journal and The Underground. Opportunities like having her first short story “At Home” published by Living Spring Publishers in Stories Through the Ages, College Edition 2017 inspired Jones to take her writing to new heights. Working for Chooseco has been the highlight of Jones’ career and she cannot wait to see what other adventures await her! Jones values reading, writing, laughing, and promoting universal kindness. She currently lives in South Florida with her dog, Noble.

MERMAID ISLAND
By Sarah Bounty Ridyard

Available 10/1/2020

You are a young mermaid in the royal mermaid family. Your mother is Queen of the Mermaids and one day you will be queen too. Every summer, your home under the sea becomes filled with boats. They are taking human girls to a camp at the shore nearby. The problem is that these visitors fill your paradise with trashy bits. You long to be a land princess just for the summer. Maybe you can make a friend on-shore and teach her how important the seas are to us all?

ABOUT SARAH BOUNTY RIDYARD
Sarah Ridyard has spent most of her life enjoying the outdoors in New England, with a brief stint in Colorado while she obtained a master's degree. She pursued an education in Environmental Engineering to balance her love of nature with a desire to improve the daily lives of people. Sarah has worked in a variety of different positions as an engineer ranging from an environmental nonprofit to consulting on municipal water projects in Boston. Her professional focus has always been protecting and preserving water supplies, and what makes her happiest (besides a cup of tea and a good book) is to share her passion for the environment with those around her. She currently lives in Connecticut with her husband, daughter, and the world’s best cat.
