

new ways to chew...

Teething is a tough time for both mums and bubs, but it can be even more stressful if you are a mum concerned about what your baby is actually putting in their mouth! These clever Dandelion Teether Keys are a clever twist on a traditional teether. Made from cornstarch bioplastic, the Teether Keys contain no BPA's, no phthalates, no PVCs and no lead. They offer a baby safe teething option...not to mention interesting jangling sounds and multi-textured surfaces to grasp and explore. Just $12.99 from www.theworldofgood.com.au new ways to fit you...

With the average sized Australian woman sitting at around 14-16 these days, it makes sense that someone has come to the rescue with a brand of maternity gear tailored specifically for women sized 18 to 28. Making it clear that your bump IS a baby bump, the range at Plus Maternity is designed specifically for a larger woman to embrace their pregnant shape. Currently only available online at www.plusmaternity.com.au, prices for these long line shorts and tops are $79.95 each.

new ways to eat...

Silly Billyz Bibs have developed a reputation for being cute, practical and easy to clean with an easy wipe surface on one side and absorbant terry toweling on the other. Their bibs are soft and comfortable and come in a fabulous range of colours. The latest addition to the range are these super cute bandana bibs - just perfect for that baby who keeps losing food down the front of their bib! RRP from $7.95, email customerservice@sillybillyz.com.au or call 1300 364 474 for stockists.

new ways to say I love you

There are some simply beautiful prints on the market that you can use to decorate your little ones space, but this cute 'eye chart' print from Design State really caught our eye. With prices from $115, shipping is free in Australia.

Visit www.designstate.bigcartel.com to see this and more.

new ways to clear the air...

How's this for a clever idea to stash in your nappy bag? Baby Bottom Cleansing Mist! Used as a gentle cleanser, the mist has pure certified organic ingredients including the healing and anti-inflammatory properties of marshmallow extract, calendula, chamomille and aloe vera. A safe and natural alternative to wipes great for bubs with a super red bum! the nifty little bottle would also be great to stash in a small bag allowing you to use in an emergency with tissues, toweling or toilet paper. But what we love the most? The smell! The most delightful, refreshing smell that has to be a bonus in overcoming some of the not-so-lovely smells that can come at nappy time. Visit www.brooklantree.com.au for more info.

