

JOHN DERIAN
FOR CISCO BROTHERS

DROMEDARY LOVESEAT

The Dromedary loveseat (on the cover) is hard to place as far as style and period. One thinks of camel-back furniture as having one hump in the middle. Ours is the reverse, with a dip in the middle and a hump on each side. The Dromedary loveseat has brass casters on the front legs only.

9' FIELD BENCH

The Field bench is oversized, dramatic, great for lounging, a good solution for dividing a large space and even a good potential guest bed. It comes with or without a back.

IN 2009 Cisco Brothers launched the John Derian furniture collection. John Derian's design sensibility, deep-rooted in the silhouettes of the past and yet perfectly suited to the present, couples with Cisco's known commitment to sustainability to create a line of eco-friendly 19th century-inspired upholstery. Handmade at Cisco's family-run Los Angeles workshop, the John Derian furniture collection pairs aesthetics with utility to create a timeless and inviting addition to your home.

6' FIELD BENCH

We loved the 9' Field bench so much we needed another version. Our 6' Field bench (opposite) has all of the beauty and drama of its bigger brother plus the added versatility of a smaller scale.

MEADOW SOFA

The inspiration for our Meadow sofa was found in Paris. John loved its relaxed look and thought the low arms seemed just right for stretching out.

THORNTAIL
WINGBACK CHAIR

The original of this lovely wingback was an American piece dating back to 1870. The Thorntail's outsized proportions, generous depth and large "wings" envelop the sitter in a cocoon of comfort.

6' COVE SOFA

The Cove sofa (opposite) is inspired by a Sheraton-style antique. This style is characterized by its clean, often square lines and a general grace and simplicity. The Cove sofa is deep and low with brass cups on the legs instead of casters.

FIELD OTTOMAN

Our Field ottoman's classic lines (opposite), tufting and small proportions make it the perfect versatile component to your living space—it's an instant coffee table when paired with a tray or extra seating in a pinch.

A. FRITILLARIA CHAIR

The Fritillaria chair is based on an original Napoleon III-style pair of chairs that John now owns. Napoleon III was the nephew of the Napoleon that we are all familiar with. This style dates from the mid-to-late 19th century, France. This chair has antique brass casters on all legs and is low and deep with classic lines and proportions.

B. BUTTERFLY CHAIR

Once you've been enveloped in the Butterfly chair's cozy wings you'll never want to get up. Based on an American original dating from 1830 our Butterfly chair's compact profile makes it an excellent reading or occasional chair.

C. TETE-A-TETE

Our Tete-a-Tete was reproduced after a 19th century conversation piece, just right for light flirting or an intimate talk.

D. COOP CHAIR

The deep, low Coop chair is based on a mid-19th century antique from France. Tufting and fringe keep this chair both serious and lighthearted and the generous seat is so comfortable that once you sit you may never stand back up.

E. TULIP CHAIR

John bought the original Tulip chair from an antiques dealer in Paris. Classic, low and snug, the Tulip chair provides maximum comfort and pairs well with a multitude of styles.

COIN SOFA

John found this original in Paris, and it dates from the late 19th century. The round shape of the Coin sofa encourages lively conversation as the perfect centerpiece in a modern-day salon. Split in two, each half holds its own as extra seating against a wall.

GERANIUM SOFA

Inspired by a Hepplewhite-style antique, the Geranium sofa has a lean, straight look with antiqued brass casters on the turned-wood front legs. With a taller leg and a shorter seat, proportions are perfect for dining.

POND CHAISE LONGUE

We needed a place for the perfect nap so John found this classic antique chaise on a shopping trip to Belgium. The original antique, dating from 1880, caught John's eye because of its simple, elegant lines.

A. LEAF CHAIR

John just had to bring the original Leaf chair back from Belgium when he took note of the big comfort coming from this small piece. The generously stuffed seat makes our Leaf chair perfect for long hours at a desk or dinner party.

B. PLUME CHAIR

This very stylish white and gold dining chair, inspired by a Belgian antique dating from 1890, has a straight back to encourage good manners and a comfy seat to encourage long cozy meals.

C. CRICKET FOLDING CHAIR

The most stylish folding chair you'll ever have, our Cricket chair was designed after a rare Spanish antique. With hand carved details, exposed nailheads and a dynamic silhouette you may never want to fold up this beauty.
