In the Deep Red Desert...

Angie Lionetto-Civa
Christina Booth

Who lives in the deep red desert? Explore the Australian desert through the eyes of a dingo and discover the surprise at the end of the journey.

The Author

Angie Lionetto-Civa lives in Perth. She shares her life with her husband, their two children, her singing bird Jack, her dancing bird Oscar, her territorial cat Licorice, her adopted cat Whisky and her three chooks! Her passion is teaching children, writing books, reading autobiographies, catching up with her friends and walking.

Illustrator Christina Booth works from her home-based studio surrounded by her garden, family and pets. She is inspired by the natural environment, and even though she lives a long way from the desert, loves that it just takes a book, a pencil and her imagination to transport her there.
