

Dr. Gary Epler, Internationally-Recognized Lung Disease Specialist, Can Help You with Answers To Any Lung Disease Question

Dr. Gary Epler is a lung disease and critical care doctor and professor at Harvard Medical School in Boston. He has written four health books about how people can manage their own health. He is writing a fifth book about how to have a high “Level-10 Energy” day. Recognized yearly from 1994 to 2012 in “The Best Doctors in America,” Dr. Epler is world-renowned for describing the lung disease bronchiolitis obliterans organizing pneumonia (BOOP) that is also called Epler’s pneumonia. He discovered a parasite in South America, chronicled nutritional needs of North African children, and managed the tuberculosis refugee program in Southeast Asia.

How Dr. Epler Can Help:

1. Dr. Epler can be your medical expert for anything related to lung diseases.
2. Natural disaster causing a lung disease? Dr. Epler can help explain.
3. World leaders or celebrities develop pneumonia or other lung disease, Dr. Epler can help explain the problem.
4. Sports celebrities or CEOs develop lung disease, Dr. Epler can help explain.
5. Special events about asthma, lung cancer, emphysema, Dr. Epler can help.
6. Breast cancer awareness alert: Epler’s pneumonia [BOOP] can occur in women after radiation treatment for breast cancer.

Availability: Massachusetts or nationwide by telephone, via Skype and local TV affiliate.
Gary R. Epler, M.D.
Epler Health, Inc.
gepler@comcast.net
Cell and text: 617-680-0650
www.eplerhealth.com

Media Activities: Radio and TV shows throughout the United States and Canada including LA Radio, Boston, and Z100 in New York City. Two videos about cancer and exercise on the Boston Channel 7 Must See Events.