

Saves You Money Too!

Accordingly to the leading Green Caterer using bamboo Veneerware can also say you money.

When you cater a full service event you will need staff to unpack the china from crates clean them and display them either on a buffet or plated on a table. When the event ends you will need to clear all the food off the china and have to repack it for transport. The china will have to be unpacked and cleaned. These steps require staffing on all fronts.

With bamboo you unpack the products directly from the box and display them. Once done you dispose of them with the food scraps from the event and all items are placed in a compostable trash bag that gets sent to a composter. Any extra plates not used get wrapped and there is no special packing or transporting that needs to take place or them.
