FUSION Expands its vast catalogue of high quality hybrid instrument cases with the launch of the 2014 Premium Series Euphonium, Tenor Horn and Baritone Horn gig bags.

Cleckheaton, United Kingdom (12th June 2014) Fusion hybrid cases are favoured by musicians worldwide for their supreme, portable, instrument protection, and like all models within the vast Fusion catalogue, the new 2014 Premium Series hybrid cases have been specifically designed for the travelling instrumentalist within brass bands and brass ensembles.

The Fusion designers are musicians themselves, including brass players who are indeed, well aware of the pitfalls and problems that occur when travelling with precocious brass instruments. Hence the new Euphonium, Tenor Horn and Baritone Horn models within the new 2014 Premium Series, follow Fusion's world renowned status by utilising the toughest materials throughout their construction, totally eradicating any anxiety of travelling with a soft case, without compromising its safety.

ON THE INSIDE: To prevent knocks or scratches internally, each instrument is cocoon within a separate padded sleeve, which in turn snugly fits within a soft velvet-mix lining. A crush resistant, honeycombed moulded base forms a core structure to protect large bells, mouthpieces and valves, and part of the 30mm high density foam shell, that's lightweight yet extremely robust.

TOUGHER ON THE OUTSIDE: Designed for the musician on the move, on the outside, the new 2014 Premium Series Euphonium, Tenor Horn and Baritone Horn hybrid gig bags are as tough and as robust as they come, constructed from extremely robust, PVC free, water resistant, 'rip stop' material that's defiant against scuffs and abrasions. The hardware is just as tough, with soft rubber handles, and rubber zip pulls for the inverted zips, and they look cool finished in Black, Green, Orange and Blue, with commuter friendly reflective panels.

The rear of the bag boasts Fusion's own "Flow-System", allowing a 'through air flow' space for a comfy backpack style carry, when the going gets hot. There is also a rear zipped compartment where the backpack straps can be stored out of sight when carried by hand. Added features include an address tag, lockable zips on the main compartment of the bag and a rain cover to help keep it dry in wet weather conditions.

POCKETS GALORE

The Fusion logo is '... more than just a gig bag' and the new 2014 Premium Series Euphonium, Tenor Horn and Baritone Horn hybrid gig bags are no exception. Fusion are well aware that musicians from student level to professional players, all need to carry a host of accessories, often having to accommodate two or more bags. It's here that Fusion once again excel in design and quality, three pockets are strategically placed for easy access and carefully designed to cater effortlessly essential instrument accessories like mouth pieces, valve oils, springs, cleaning clothes, and up to A4 size sheet music.

If more space is required to carry larger accessories or even clothing, the new 2014 Premium Series Euphonium, Tenor Horn and Baritone Horn gig bags incorporate Fusion's unique "Fuse-on" system, whereby a separate range of accessory bags can quickly and easily fit onto the main instrument bag.

Fusion Premium Series Tenor £206.92

Fusion Premium Series Baritone Horn £207. 95

Fusion Premium Series Euphonium £224.95
