

o | tiered serving tray

RESTORATION HARDWARE

Made of: Reclaimed pine.

Use it: As a space-saving way to corral cold drinks, silverware, or food on a buffet table.

Eco bonus: It comes apart as individual trays for multipurpose use. $149; restorationhardware.com

WIN IT!

o | birdhouse

ROOST

Made of: Salvaged driftwood.

Use it: On a porch post or in a nearby tree, where you can enjoy its rustic charm.

Eco bonus: The wood's natural patina means no smelly finishes for birds to turn up their beaks at. $60; velocityartanddesign.com

o | house number

MISSION METALWORKS

Made of: Recycled copper or bronze.

Use it: To boost your cottage's curb appeal.

Eco bonus: Sand-cast with domestically produced alloys. $20-$35 each; shop4classics.com

o | cozy throw

IN2GREEN

Made of: Domestically produced cotton and acrylic yarn spun from never-used T-shirt clippings.

Use it: To curl up on a couch; the coral pattern will inspire visions of warmer locales.

Eco bonus: A portion of proceeds is donated to environmental organizations.

$130; in2green.com

WIN IT!

o | folding chair

WHIT McLEOD

Made of: White-oak staves salvaged from 70-gallon wine barrels.

Use it: As extra seating anywhere from the den to the deck. Its slatted form folds flat for easy toting and storage.

Eco bonus: Sanded on vintage machinery made from scrap parts. $145; whitmcLeod.com

WIN IT!

SCAN IT

WIN IT >

Scan this tag with your smartphone and enter to win the eligible products in this story (total value: $967!). For details, see page 10. Or just go to thisoldhouse.com/win.

o | cork carpet tile

MIO CULTURE

Made of: Cork scraps from a manufacturer of wine-bottle stoppers in Portugal.

Use it: To fashion a graphic runner for a long hallway.

Eco bonus: The puzzle-piecelike form extends the flooring's life: Ruin a section? Just pop it out and replace. $95 for 12 square feet; mioculture.com