

Wine Pick of the Week

Best-value bottles to drink, right now

BY DJ KEARNEY PUBLISHED JUN 27, 2013

June 27, 2013

O Canada! The long weekend is here. How will you celebrate? I'm planning to take advantage of the fair weather (the forecast is superb), a hot grill, farm-to-table food, and wine from our own back yard. Here are two B.C. winners from our 2013 Wine Awards that will keep the patriotic feelings flowing.

SPIERHEAD WINERY CHARDONNAY 2010

$22

B.C. +166140

Our judges loved the balance of slowly ripened cool-climate fruit, subtle high-end clovey oak notes and well-etched acidity in this stylish chardonnay. SpierHead is part of the FabFive wineries along the East Kelowna trail making head-turning wines right now, especially pinot and chard. Vibrant, succulent, and layered, this beauty adapts perfectly to herby stuffed mushrooms, pasta tossed with fresh peas and cream, or pizza made with local blue cheese and pear.

★ Only available in private wine stores

SPIERHEAD
- WINERY -

Wine of the Week – Vancouver magazine – June 27, 2013
- WINERY -