floor protector takes care of the risks connected with damage claims related to wood flooring.

Cupping of dry floors

Warped planks due to humidity

Open joints

Buckling

No matter how carefully you did the job, it is always possible that you will receive complaints and, at worst, you may have to pay for the damages. This potential nightmare for every flooring company can now be professionally addressed with the fidbox from floor protector.

Let's look at the facts.

This innovative device gives you the reliable proof you need to handle questions of liability.

The fidbox is installed in the wood flooring and measures temperature & humidity of the material.

Just route a section of the reverses side of a plank and install the fidbox. The fidbox measures temperature and relative humidity from the time it is installed. This way you have a historical log starting from the time of preparation in your warehouse.

The installation is simple and the fidbox is invisible to the naked eye.

It is taking a reading on the moisture and relative humidity on the surface side and at the screed level every 8 hours.

All you need to read the data is a notebook computer, the fidbox software and a floor protector USB Stick Reader.

The data can be read out at any time.

Recommended by European Experts.

Wood installation companies and hardwood flooring inspectors are enthusiastic about the certainty it provides.

A solid wood, oiled Versailles parquet in a city mansion: it was a beautiful floor. And only three months later, we were confronted with inexplicable signs of damage. Thanks to fidbox, we were able to identify all the causes and quickly rectify them, which saved us a great deal of aggravation.

Hermann Müller: EHAM Joinery/Decoration

What I like about floor protector is that the management has many years of experience with parquet flooring. They are not just every-day salesmen or insurance reps. They are real professionals who understand the business.

Jürgen Kampp, Fenchel the interior furnisher. raum. boden. wand

For the first time, the fidbox gives reliable long-term data about the environmental conditions in the wooden floor and inside the construction, making it possible to accurately trace the causes of flooring damage and problems.
