

Excellent, no more birds in the shed, thanks - Linley (Taupo)

I am writing to tell you that you have a wonderful product. I am a substation foreman that has had problems with smaller birds perching in and on substation equipment. They make quite a mess while some even get electrocuted. I purchased a BirdXPeller Pro one year ago and the results are great. Best part is there are no more cleanups and our outage rate has dropped. Thanks so much! - Pat - Power Company

Last summer we had a major problem with 100-120 swallows perching on the ledges above the doors in the front porch of our public hall. The hall is surrounded by trees and farmland so the ledges provided a haven for the birds.

Even though we tried other remedies including nailing nylon line just above the ledges, we were still plagued with these birds and the terrible mess they constantly left on the concrete entrance way and down the walls and doors.

After contacting the team at Pestgard, they recommended we set up a BirdXPeller Pro with a customised micro chip. We received this promptly from Pestgard and we installed it inside the hall with the speaker facing south-west. The results were truly amazing!

Within two days 80% of the birds had moved on and after five days the rest had gone.

Our cleaning costs were greatly reduced along with the health risk of bird deposits. Bird droppings and young children are not a good mix! Not to mention the visual appearance to the main entrance of the hall being a lot more inviting!!

We are very pleased with the advice from the Pestgard team. We strongly recommend their product to anyone with a similar problem to ours. Thank you Pestgard, for fixing a major problem and inconvenience with a simple solution.
