

Limeade Announces Company Name Change to Limefuel

Limeade Announces Company Name Change to Limefuel

Boulder, CO (PRWEB) December 20, 2013 -- Limeadetech, LLC is changing its corporate name to Limefuel, LLC as it continues to expand into the portable battery technologies market. The company believes the name Limefuel will better represent its products in the marketplace.

Adopting the name Limefuel is a major rebranding effort that will see all of Limeade's current products transition to the Limefuel brand name within the following 6 months. Limefuel is everything you love about Limeade, retaining all the reliability, portability and innovation the company's customers have learned to expect, just with a new name.

The warranty for Limeade products is still valid via Limefuel and the current company website <http://www.mylimeade.com> now redirects to the company's new website, <http://www.limefuel.com>.

About Limefuel

Limefuel was established in 2013 in Boulder, Colorado. The company produces cutting-edge external batteries for smartphones, tablets and other devices, maximizing battery capacity within the smallest possible form factors by pushing the boundaries of what current technology will allow. For more information, visit <http://www.limefuel.com>.

If you have any questions about our company or product, please contact us at support (at) limefuel (dot) com.

Contact Information

Spencer Monson

limefuel.com

<http://limefuel.com>

7203108188

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.