

Rainier, Explorer Lite, Large Expedition Tank Bag for '07 & earlier KLR 650

Installation:

NOTE: To install this properly to a KLR, you must use the Wolfman KLR Front Mounting Harness.

- Figure 1: This is a properly mounted Rainier Tank Bag on the Kawasaki KLR 650.
- Make sure your tank and the bag are free of dirt, etc. We recommend you wash and wax your tank prior to putting any soft luggage on. Also, always clean your tank and the bottom of the tank bag prior to each use.
- Figure 2: Place the KLR specific Front Mounting harness on the front of the tank. Remove the radiator shroud screws (do not use the plastic washer). Place screw through hole in bottom of buckle. Do this to both sides.
- Figure 3: Unfasten the two rear straps from the two buckles and webbing keeper. Take the rear straps of webbing (the rear is the handle side of the bag with the buckles under the bag) and feed them around each side of the frame down-tube between the tank and side panel and back through the rectangle loop buckle. Even the ends of webbing and feed them through the keeper and through the male buckles. (Keeper will sit under the tongue of the seat).
- Tighten straps snug in front and rear.
- To gas up, unclip front two straps and tilt the tank bag back onto the seat. Fuel. Re-clip and tighten. Enjoy!
