

TRENDY POISON PRE-GENERATED CHARACTER BIOS

RICHARD HEALY (EXPEDITION LEADER)

A grizzled former weightlifter who ran his own gym for years. Having dreamed of an impending apocalypse, this silver fox has become grim and re-devoted himself to physical and martial training with zeal he hasn't had since he was a young man. He believes the war is coming and he intends to be ready.

KATIE HORNER (WARRIOR FAE)

A late 20s barista who found hard times when she moved to the big city. Her life took a directionless spin amidst money woes and a city that was nothing like she dreamed of.

She found her thick skin--figuratively and literally-- after surviving a mugging attempt. Swearing she was blessed after a knife failed to cut her skin, Katie had a crux where she was a trained warrior of the fae people who hunted a trickster outlaw to be brought to justice.

Now she watches people come and go from her coffee shop and wonders when she will have a chance to do something meaningful once more.

AVA MELENDEZ (PSI - BLADE)

Once an aspiring modern dancer, Ava dropped out of school when her father ran out on her family. Shortly afterwards, she hooked up with a young neighborhood menace called "Ace" and became a staple of the local party scene.

She helped her boyfriend peddle drugs until her Crux had her become a lowborn civilian who rose to infamy as a psionic warrior of the future.

Now rather than thinking of what she's lost, she thinks of her alter ego Sheila's ascension, and seeks to fight for the right cause and rise above the streets.

MARKUS SOKOLOVE (SUPERHERO)

Son of Russian immigrants, Markus took the roughness of his home town in stride, striving to be the prototype of an American teenager.

Popular, athletic and driven, Markus dreamed of being a Russian hero from his parent's homeland who saved the communist dream by stopping Boss Tweed, a capitalist greed-monger.

BLAKE WINTERS (PYROMANCER)

On the surface, Blake appears to be a well spoken, cordial young man. His soft brown hair swept to the side, a coy smile and gentle brown eyes give the most casual onlookers the impression of a harmless, even charming college student.

On occasions, the remorseless, fearless monster he truly is rears its ugly head to breath fire on someone. His abnormal detachment from sympathy has lead to a bizarre obsession with fire. Watching flames destroy something, living or otherwise, is a wonder he never grows tired of.
