our philosophy

The Terlato name is synonymous with wine and quality. This reputation was built through more than 70 years of shaping the luxury wine business in the United States through importing, producing and marketing the finest quality wines. The Terlato's aim is excellence and they have the reputation for an unyielding focus on quality.

The same high standards are carried over to the Terlato family table. When they cook for family and entertain guests, the Terlatos use only the best ingredients. Foods are lovingly prepared using traditional family recipes and new favorites inspired by their travels around the world. Of course, there is always plenty of delicious wine, laughter and lively conversation.

At Terlato Kitchen, we craft delicious specialty foods in small batches as if they were prepared in our home. We use authentic recipes and hand select ingredients of unparalleled quality. The very first product was our Pomodoro Sauce made from an age-old Terlato Family recipe using only the best imported San Marzano Tomatoes and Italian Extra Virgin Olive Oil. A special recipe now passed from family to friends, from our table to yours.

Il Poggione Estate

Our dear friends at the Il Poggione wine making estate in Tuscany boast over 12,000 olive trees, producing special Olive Oil our family has enjoyed for years. Olives are gathered by hand and cold-pressed within 24 hours. With a dense green color and fruity nose, this oil is spicy with only the slightest hint of bitterness.
