

Lawson Hammock: The Most Versatile Camping Tent-Hammock in the World

Lawson Hammock's Blue Ridge Camping Hammock is a hybrid tent-hammock, rated No. 1 on the market by leading publications such as Backpacker and Outside.

The Blue Ridge Camping Hammock has a patented design that allows for use suspended, as a hammock, or on the ground, as a tent, greatly increasing camping terrain options that are often limited by the type of shelter you're using. The spreader bar and arch pole design also keeps the bed of the hammock flatter and more taut, eliminating much of the uncomfortable cocoon and banana effect created by most hammocks. The Blue Ridge Camping Hammock has attached no-see-um netting and a rainfly that attaches directly to the hammock, so there is no need for other trees for tying off a tarp or staking. It appeals to a wide demographic, including hardcore backpackers, weekend warriors, car campers, bikers, paddlers, world travelers, Scouts and even those looking for a fun, bug-free place to lounge in the back yard. If you really want to elevate your camping game, the Lawson Hammock is a must-have for your outdoor gear assortment.

About Lawson Hammock

For over 10 years, Lawson Hammock has been a leader in the camping hammock industry. Known for its top-quality product and innovative design, Founder Wes Johnson has built an outdoor/camping product company with an impeccable reputation and loyal following. Lawson Hammock has grown from a company selling hammocks at small festivals only, to one with an impressive online presence, customers all over the world and one that sells product in top outdoor retail stores. To learn more, please visit www.lawsonhammock.com