A PLACE — AND — A FEELING

What began as a frustration with the quality and construction of hunting clothing quickly evolved into a brand that seeks to understand the Wingshooter. We talk about Duck Camp, which could just as easily be called “Fish Camp” or “Quail Ranch,” but it is as much a place to go as it is a feeling.

From the moment we put a kennel in the back of the truck, or check the weather, or sort through last season’s shells, a feeling grows around that time in the wild. It’s the post-hunt cold drink, it’s the fire, it’s the early start. It’s the food, the dogs, the work. The cold, the rain, the wind, the retrieve. The stories, the laughs, the sounds that can only be heard in that special place.

WHY DUCK CAMP?

Our company is devoted to creating premium outdoor goods for Sportsmen and women that will withstand the test of time. The apparel transitions from the field to the town effortlessly and it outperforms cheaper quality clothing on the market in any setting.

You won’t be seeing Duck Camp products in any big box stores. We sell them directly to you, and also through our closely aligned boutique retailers. We take a tailored approach to everything we do because that’s what has been missing in the hunting and fishing apparel industry.

“Great design and quality. It’s the details that make this shirt great. 3 air gussets on the shoulders and back plus woven air holes in the arm pits. Material feels nice and soft. And I love the camo print.

I’m glad someone has finally bothered to fully redesign a field shirt for the modern hunter! - Brant M., New York

MESH VENTING

Swing through it! This mesh venting system moves with you as you turn to shoot and the mini pit vents also help keep you cool.

“Look good with a functional camo shirt! Not only is it tailored to fit well, it gives ample room for movement and is a comfortable material. The camouflage pattern is one sure to allow a stealthy appearance in early fall hunting. Actually, I believe its a great all-around hunting and about-town shirt.”

"Best Winter Shirt I Own. This is a camp staple and one of my favorite winter shirts. Very comfortable with a moleskin feel. Stylish enough to wear around town but functional enough to work outdoors in or use as a layer under your jacket on a cold day in the blind." - Marshall D., Texas

MOLESKIN COTTON

Pair it with a Base Layer Top, Vest and Jacket for frigid mornings afield.

FEATURES

- Designed for Temperatures Ranging from 25 - 50 Degrees
- Super Soft, Heavy Cotton to Ensure Warmth and Comfort in the Field

BETTER CAMOS.

EARLY SEASON (ES) WETLAND

- Designed for coastal marshes and flooded agricultural fields
- Large blocks of contrasting greens and browns create shadows and depth
- Hexagonal sub pattern provides detail in foreground tricking the eye of birds

LATE SEASON (LS) WETLAND

- Built for the marsh and other open environments in the late season
- Splotchy brown and tan color variances with a hexagonal sub pattern
- Micro patterns confuse the eye of waterfowl and mimic leaves blowing in the wind

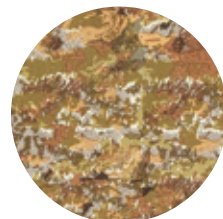

EARLY SEASON (ES) WOODLAND

- Created for any type of hunting in wooded environments
- Vertical lines in the camo blend in perfectly with vertical tree bark
- Perfect for flooded timber hunting during the first split

LATE SEASON (LS) WOODLAND

- Made for late season hunts in the timber when vegetation turns gray
- Vertical gray and brown lines mesh with surrounding leafless trees
- Ideal in any wooded environment later in the season

MIDLAND

- Specifically designed for hunting in brush country
- Different shades of brown and green emulate dead mesquite, salt grass and underbrush
- Great for dove hunting or any type of hunting in sunflower fields and in the brush

It doesn't matter if you hunt 55 days a season or 3, if you bag hundreds of birds or none; we all share the same feeling. And it isn't just the time in the field we crave—it's seeing fathers, and sons, and brothers (both blood and built). It's about creating that special bond afield and back at the Duck Camp... wherever that may be.
