Charles Tremewen, Master Distiller

Charles Tremewen is the co-founder, along with his wife Rita, and master distiller at Long Table Distillery. The distillery is Vancouver's first local producer of small batch, handcrafted, premium spirits since the mid-50's.

Long Table is the culmination of Tremewen's extensive experience in product development and marketing local, sustainable businesses, combined with his passion for Gin and the fine art of distilling small batch craft gins and seasonal spirits.

In 2010, Tremewen's passion for spirits was re-ignited on a trip to Portland's Distillery Row. Inspired by that city's thriving small batch distilleries, Charles and Rita dedicated themselves to building a local distillery to handcraft spirits in Vancouver built around their passion for Gin. The distillery opened in February 2013. Four years later, Long Table is recognized for its International award winning small batch, handcrafted spirits.

Tremewen's professional history demonstrates his abiding interest in organic and sustainable products and business operations. Prior to founding Long Table, Tremewen held senior positions within Vancouver's natural and organic food and beverage industry, both as Director of Marketing at Salt Spring

Coffee and as Product and Brand Manager at Nature's Path Foods. Tremewen has also worked as an independent strategic management consultant for local businesses across a variety of industries, specializing in building consumer engagement and brand awareness.

In addition to having studied Artisan Distilling at Michigan State University, Tremewen is a UBC Bachelor of Arts graduate, and holds an honours certificate in Marketing Communications from BCIT.

The Tremewen's live in Vancouver B.C. and are active members of the British Columbia Craft Distilling Association (BCCDA), an industry association that represents the interests and diversity of all of the province's micro-distillers. For the past two years Charles was elected President of the BCCDA.
