

British External Doors - Traditional & Heritage

Door finish:

All our Heritage & Traditional products are hand prepared with a premium high quality primer.

These paint materials have been scientifically designed for our use in Germany from the world leading paint supplier "Remmers" and although we realise that some customers may feel the finish is more than enough the addition of a topcoat is required ideally before hanging, or immediately after installation.

Please remember the top and bottom edges are equally important to be fully finished.

One point to note is that all primed or painted doors but especially black primed doors will show movement between door rails and panels, the panel will possibly show "shrinkage" in the finish at the edges which will ultimately lead to customers unease, this is not a manufacturing issue, these doors need to be finished on site.
