

Home for the Holidays

After a year of many challenges and difficulties aplenty, it's fair to say there's not a lot we'll miss about Twenty-Twenty.

But, Christmas is coming,
the festivities are near, it's a good time to think about all we hold dear.

Like our lovely loving moms, our firm but fair dads, our quick-witted daughters and our strapping young lads.

All stuck inside together, missing our old ways, but at least this year we're all home for the holidays.

Now it won't be the same as Christmases before, it'll be better because we'll appreciate it more.

We'll play boardgames
and write postcards, bake gingerbread men and throw darts.

We'll colour things in,
get busy knitting,
we'll decorate the tree and do a fair amount of sitting.

But, we'll be doing it together, that's the real blessing, not worrying about where to go, no need to be stressing.

Of course, some won't be with us, for our own good we'll be apart, but you're never too far away when you're in each other's hearts.

TROTTERS

Merry Christmas,
from us to you and yours, we hope you enjoy this story for a holiday indoors.
