

"For me, the best thing about my work is when it resonates with people."

Christine Stegmann goes wild with her first own fashion brand – MYINTOX. The label combines high standards and quality with loving attention to detail. And that is exactly what you see and feel in every unique piece from MYINTOX.

Who does not want to own a high-end designer fashion piece? But often these are simply too expensive. It was the same for Christine Stegmann, owner and principal at MYINTOX. Having fallen in love with the cuts and creations by renowned designer brands she also wanted to own a classic elegant designer sweater. Since the high-priced luxury versions were out of question, she searched for a possibility of creating similar sweaters through own enterprise and creativity. This is how MYINTOX started.

Over the past 2 years, this power woman invested a lot of love, hard work and highest expectations in her own exclusive fashion: say it with love. Say it with fashion. Say it with MYINTOX.

The MYINTOX brand

MYINTOX is different. MYINTOX is wild. MYINTOX, that is you. Because this fashion brand is not for a specific type of person, but for everybody. With this vision, lots of sensitivity and many sleepless nights, Christine Stegmann created the world of MYINTOX. Each of these nature-inspired unique pieces was created with elaborate detailing. All products are sustainable and fair wear. The materials come from organic sustainable sources and are fashioned into wonderful creations under fair manufacturing methods. Fashion designer Christine Stegmann has invested lots of love into every piece and created a collection for the self-conscious fashionista of today: inexpensive and luxurious at the same time.

MYINTOX®

Intox yourself with MYINTOX

The collection consists of high-quality, sustainably produced cashmere and cotton sweaters, extravagant fair-trade T-shirts and sweatshirts made of organic cotton and recycled polyester with vegan certification. In addition, matching accessories, which are of course also manufactured according to fair standards. The name MYINTOX stands for intoxication. For the intoxicating joy of fashion. And this joy everyone can put into their own wardrobe with MYINTOX.

MYINTOX: inspired by nature

The love for nature is not only displayed in each of the high-quality unique pieces, but founder Christine Stegmann also shows this love through her support for endangered species. For example, through regular donations. The two fashion lines “African Wilderness” and “Asian Beauty” of the capsule collection are based on stylish animal prints, which have been inspired by and created for nature.

But this is only the beginning: the first wild, crazy and still classic styles will be followed by many more. So stay tuned! And let MYINTOX abduct you into the city jungle.

MYINTOX cashmere comes mainly from the highlands, which gives our products extraordinary smoothness and exclusivity. Some of our sweaters consist of 30% cashmere and 70% wool, but due to the high quality of the cashmere they are softer and smoother than many sweaters made from 100% cashmere. Less is often more in this case and more sustainable.

Especially the animal motives jump at you immediately...

Yes, our stitcheries and applications are manufactured with great technical finesse and in some cases in hours-long manual labor, meaning that many of our products are truly handcrafted unique pieces.

And what makes MYINTOX different from other labels?

The interplay of exceptional animal designs, quality and sustainability.
