EMBRACING THE ELEMENTS

We all know you can't change the weather so here at Kaiwaka Clothing we design garments, so you can embrace it instead. The Elements can surprise you anywhere in the world, throwing everything and anything in your direction. Being able to remain productive in all weather is vital to your health and your business, Kaiwaka Clothing is designed and constructed just for that. It is produced from the highest quality materials and completed with a 100% quality check before it reaches the shelf ready for you to Embrace the Elements.

FLASHBACK

With six generations of farming experience taking them from Scotland to Nova Scotia and finally New Zealand the Stewart family embraced everything the elements threw at them. In 1975 with the experience and their heritage behind them Kaiwaka Clothing began creating no-nonsense designs that can help everyone working in the outdoors be more productive. Over the years they have developed reliable and sort after products, to enable you to get outside no matter what the elements throw at you.
