

PASHA TABLE

M ARTISAN
D ZORAN JEDREJČIĆ

At table, we socialize, drink, eat, tell over events and become more familiar with each other. Around this practically sacred object, whole families and statesmen gather. The designer has often asked what gives character to the object, the answer to which was given by history itself through the styles of art: the legs of a table determine its character, offering it stability, and it was actually they that during the course of time were most subject to changes and the influences of various styles. Each of us in our memories carries out own table. It was while these memories were being played with that the Pasha table came about. The user is given the opportunity to pick out his own legs from among the memories, so as to feel as important as a real pasha.

As wood is a natural product, variations in color and pigmentation will occur. Wooden furniture will also change appearance over time as it is affected by the environment in which it is placed.
