D DAVID KARÁSEK, RADEK HEGMON

The products from our Radium line are designed for two types of people: those who “want,” and those who “must have.” The series has its own distinctive image thanks to the aesthetically attractive curved metal frame. The distinctive shape with a dominant side metal surface is what makes each piece of furniture from the Radium series a unique exterior accessory which beautifully reflects the personality of its owner. The Radium series is stable and strong.

Each seat is supported by bent sheet metal, giving it a striking aesthetic. The frame is made out of light aluminium metal which has a powder coated finish. The seat and the backrest are either made out of tropical wood or out of locust wood.
