

FROG CHAIR

M RICHARD LAMPERT
D HERBERT HIRCHE

A distinctive chair with charm: ›Frog‹. Designed in 1955, the stackable chair was originally developed for lecture theatres, and Herbert Hirche affectionately named his chair ›Frog‹. It features unique details, for example the colour of the metal elements in the armrest and seat always match the colour of the frame. Slightly modified designs of this charming piece of furniture had already been shown in the 1950s. Frog is available in various colour combinations and in a natural oak design.
