how to commission your own Sharon West Fine Art original

Thank you for considering adding to your home décor with an original piece of my art. Commissioning an original piece of art is easy as 1-2-3! Here are the steps:

1 Peruse my website for ideas of the subject matter. If you have photos of scenes or art you like, gather those

2 Contact me by calling, texting or emailing and let me know what you have in mind. I will call you and if possible (depending upon your location), I will visit your space to discuss your needs.

3 Depending on current commissions in progress, I will schedule your piece to be created. I do my best to accommodate any deadlines you may have. You pay a 20% of the total cost of the piece for deposit so I may order supplies.

FAQs about custom commission

How long does a piece take to create?

It depends upon what pieces I have in progress, but you can plan on 6 weeks. I can often do it faster if you have a deadline

How should I guide you in determining what I want?

Reference images, screenshots of my previous work, photos of a scene you like, inspiration from other paintings all will help me to understand the perfect piece you are looking for. If you don't have much, don't worry, I can show you lots of samples.

FAQs about a custom commission

Do I have to frame my piece?

My paintings are created on 1.5" deep gallery wrapped canvases and the scene is continued on the sides, so no framing is necessary. If you do plan to frame it, let me know I can get a thinner canvas to accommodate framing.

What if I am unhappy with the finished piece?

I want you to be happy! I will work with you until you are happy. If need be I will repaint it or refund your purchase price, minus the deposit to cover used supplies. I can honestly say I have not had a single unhappy client.
