The Legacy of Lord Baden-Powell

Young Men of Honor Series

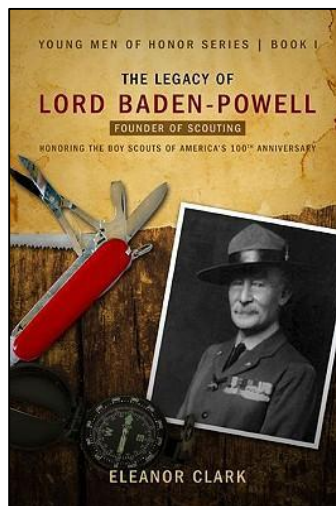

By: Eleanor Clark

The Legacy of Lord Baden-Powell is the first release in the Young Men of Honor Series. These fictional books are based on the true-life history of author Eleanor Clark. These heartwarming stories span generations, are historically accurate, and highlight the life of Lord Baden-Powell, the founder of the Boy Scouts of America.

Our “Lord Baden-Powell” lapbook is designed to go right along with this fascinating book. Each chapter in the book has a corresponding booklet for your child to complete in the lapbook. (Some chapters have several booklets).

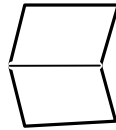

Simply read the text from the book, go to the booklet that accompanies it, and follow the instructions to complete the booklet.

Things to Know

Hamburger Fold-Fold horizontally

Hotdog Fold-Fold vertically

Folds-Labeled with a small line to show where the fold is and the words hamburger fold or hotdog fold.

Dotted Lines-These are the cutting lines

Cover Labels- Most of the booklets that are folded look nicer with a label on top instead of just a blank space. They will be labeled "covered page" or "cover label."

How long does it take to complete the lapbook?

Doing a chapter and mini-booklet a day, a 2-folder lapbook takes about one month to complete. However, you can expand on the topic in the text reading and make it last as long as you like!

So where do the mini-booklets go?

A color coded and labeled KEY is included. This key shows you where all of the mini-booklets go in each folder. Keep this page handy! You will also see at the top of the mini-booklet pages another graphic that shows once again where to place the booklet in each folder. So there are TWO ways to see where to place the booklet. We made it easy!! You won't get lost.

How to use the book with the mini-booklets

At the beginning of each mini-booklet template page, you will see the directions for cutting and assembling the template. Within these directions, you will find which part of the book to read. After reading the selected text, cut out, assemble and glue in the mini-booklet that goes with it. Then fill out the mini-booklet with the correct answers. The answers will be found in the selected text.

Lapbook assembly choices

Choice #1 -Do not glue your folders together until you have completely finished all three folders. It is easier to work with one folder instead of two or three glued together. You can keep the waiting folders in your binder that we will be mentioning later.

Choice #2 -Glue all of your folders together before beginning. Some children like to see the entire project as it is being done. Plus, it helps with keeping up with which folder you are supposed to be working in. The choices are completely up to you and your child!

The History of the Bugle

The first “horns” were made from the horns of large steers. In the days before telegraphs, telephones, and cell phones, the horn was used to communicate over long distances. Because of its light weight and small size, the horn was easy to pack and carry. When air was blown into one end of the horn, it produced a large, sharp sound. This sound could travel a great distance.

It is said that the ancient Egyptians used the loud sound of the horn to ward off evil spirits. The Greeks used the horn to sound the start of the Olympic games. European armies used them to help choreograph their military.

Although animal horns served the purpose of sending sound, there were a couple of problems. Since they were made from the horns of animals, after a time they would begin to smell badly. Also, no two horns are alike, so the sounds they produced varied.

As time progressed, so did the “horn.” Joseph Halliday of England invented the first metal horn in 1811. He named his invention the Royal Kent bugle, in honor of the Duke of Kent. The word bugle is French for “steer.” The idea that horns could be made in the same sizes and shapes to produce a consistent tone and pitch was a huge success!

During the Civil War, the bugle was a valuable means of communication for the soldiers out on the field. It was used to warn of dangers, tell coordinates, announce times for special meetings, and used to call the soldiers in from the battlefield. Each action had a unique call and sound.

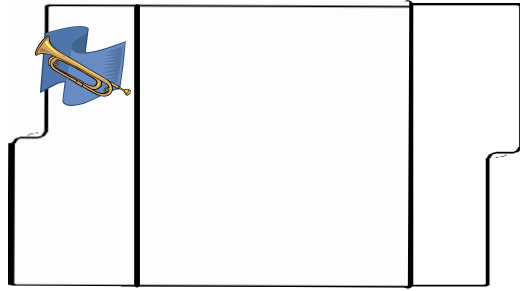

In World War II, the bugle was used on large ships. The sound was played over a radio. By this time there were over 120 different calls being used by the military.

The sound of the bugle is still used today in the military. It is blown to signal wake up, time to eat, and lights out. Most calls are now prerecorded and played over a sound system instead of a soldier actually playing it. However, a bugle is still used to play the tune, “Taps,” at the funeral service of anyone who has served in the Armed Forces.

Have an adult help you find someone playing “Taps” on the internet.
