

Any Age

Underground Railroad Express Lapbook

A Journey Through Learning www.ajourneythroughlearning.com

Authors-Paula Winget and Nancy Fileccia Copyright © 2013 A Journey Through Learning

Pages may be copied for other members of household only. For group use, please see our website to purchase a classroom/co-op license.

Please check our website at. www.ajourneythroughlearning.com

While you are there, sign up for our small newsletter and receive a FREE lappook!
You'll also receive great discount codes, special offers, find out what's new and what's to come!

lon us on Facebook!

Clipart is from www.clipart.com with permission

Things to Know

Hamburger Fold-Fold horizontally

Hotdog Fold-Fold vertically

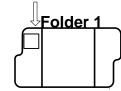

Dotted Lines-These are the cutting lines.

Accordion Fold-This fold is like making a paper fan. Fold on the first line so that title is on top. Turn over and fold on next line so that title is on top again. Turn over again and fold again on the next line so that title is on top. Continue until all folds are done.

Cover Labels-Most of the booklets that are folded look nicer with a label on top instead of just a blank space. They will be referred to as "cover label."

How do I know where to place each template in the folder?

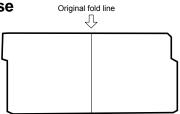

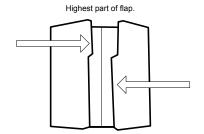

This placement key tells you the temp at goes in the first folder at the top of the left flap.

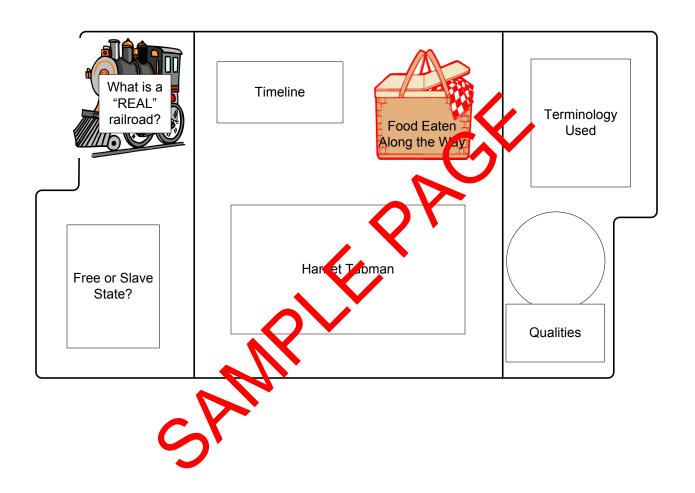

Folding a Lambook Base

For each folder, fold the left and right sides inward toward the original line to create two flaps. Crease so that the highest part of each flap is touching the original line. It is important not to let the two flaps overlap. You may want to take a ruler and run it down each crease to make it sharper.

Complete the Scene

Cut out the scene on the dotted line. Glue on to the back of your lapbook. Inside of the suitcase, pack the things that a runaway slave may have taken with them.

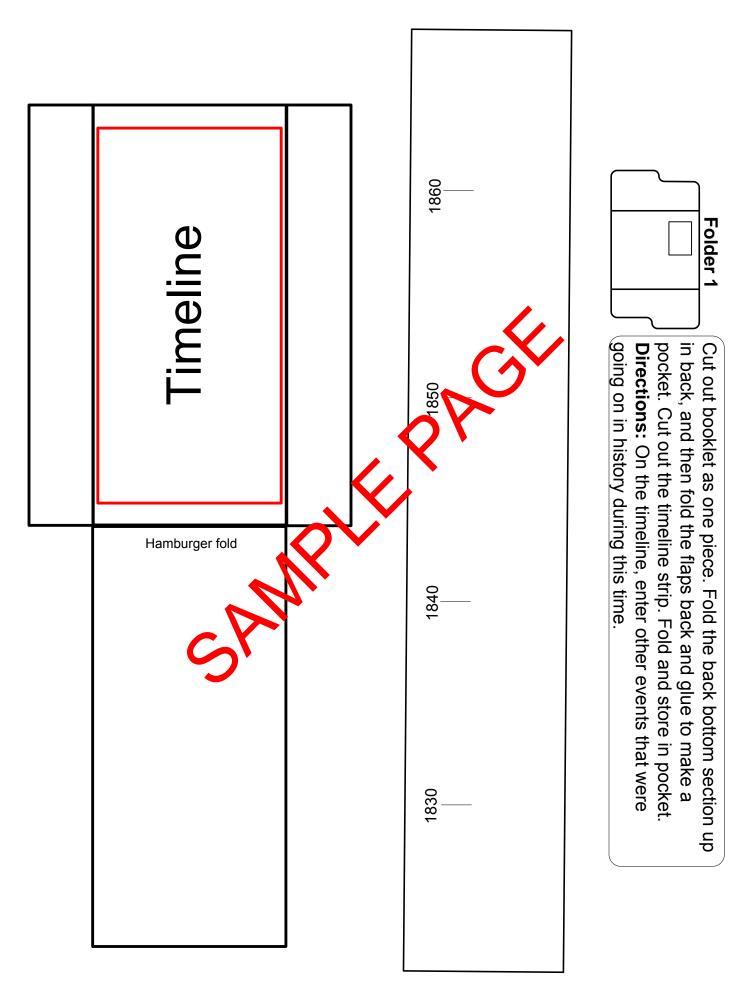

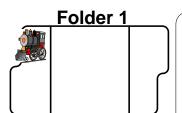

Running for Freedom- The Underground Railroad

The Underground Railroad was a means of escape for slaves from 1830 to 1860. Many of the slaves were trying to flee their owners and relocate to the North for freedom. Even though it was called "The Underground Railroad," it was not a railroad at all. It was a secret path of travel that may have included walking, boats, horse carriages, or hiding for days in abandoned barns.

Harriet Tubman was a runaway slave from Marylana. Over the course of 10 years, Harriet helped to lead hundreds of slaves to freezom using this route. Travel on the Railroad held many dangers for the slaves, and for the individuals who helped them escape. Some of the a dangers included being caught. When slaves were caught, they were istally severely punished. Other dangers were wild animals, poisonous snakes, and hunger. While running away, many slaves lived on very little food. Because they did not possess anything, they did not take anything with them. They would eat whatever they could find along the way-nuts, roots, com, apples, or fish caught in streams. The Railroad, and everything about it, had to remain a secret.

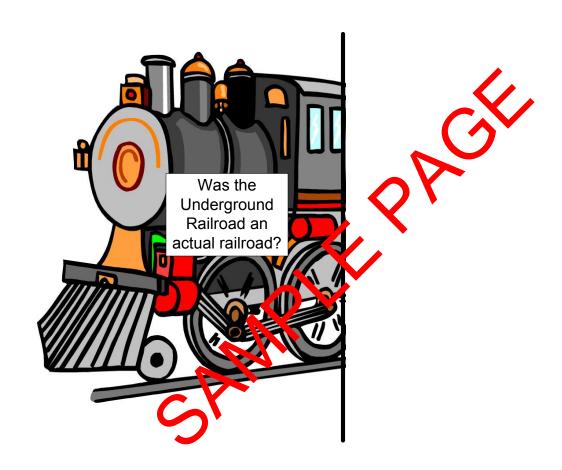

Along the way, many signals were invented to let slaves know the route to follow. Some of the codes included: special knocks on windows, leaving ashes in certain shapes on the ground, bird sounds, and painted bricks on chimneys. Many families along the trail had secret compartments in their homes and businesses to hide slaves. Many people helped with the Underground Railroad. Most were from the North, but some Southerners also felt that slavery was wrong. Most of the people were ordinary people like doctors, lawyers, store owners, children, and mothers. No one actually knows how many slaves actually escaped, but the numbers are around 100,000. Due to the secrecy of the railroad, no true records were kept.

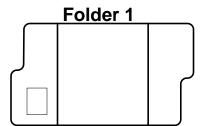

Fold your paper in half. Cut around the shape. DO NOT CUT ON FOLD. Glue into lapbook.

Directions: Answer the question inside the booklet.

Cut out the booklet. Glue into lapbook.

Directions: Using the key provided, shade the areas on your map.

http://www.nps.gov/nr/travel/underground/routes.htm

