

OCTOBER 2018

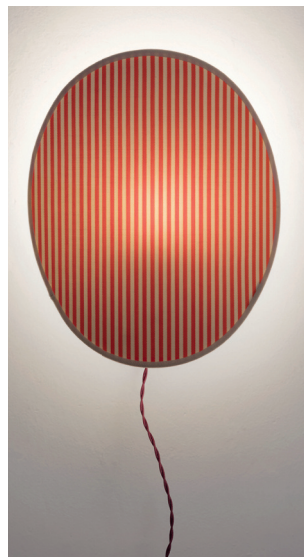

THE WORLD OF INTERIORS

DECORATION SPECIAL

ROLLING HOME: Georgia May Jagger's London refuge

FOR ONE WEEK ONLY: Milan's 3D-printed house

1

antennae

What's in the air this month, edited by Nathalie Wilson

2

1 Servomuto's lights are entirely handmade by Italian craftsmen, a fact the company is justifiably proud of. Many, including these 'Alghero' wall sconces (available in black or orange; £120 approx each), are limited editions. So best get your skates on. Ring 00 39 0291 668 674, or visit servomuto.com.

3

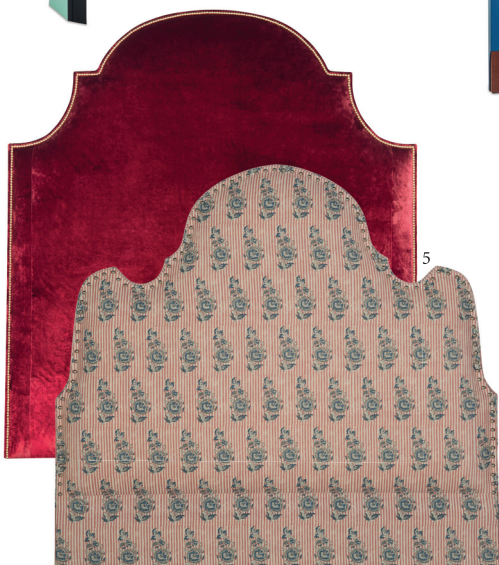

2 There's surely no shortage of used sari material available to Luke Irwin for his recycled 'Sari Silk' hand-knotted rugs (£1,245 per sq m): each garment requires five to eight metres of fabric. Shown from top: 'Lal' and 'Baingani', two of 20-odd available, many of which reflect the original colours. Ring 020 7730 6070, or visit lukeirwin.com.

3 Sorting the wheat from the chaff, or the low-grade granite from the lapis lazuli, has been Gerald Culliford's aim for nigh-on 50 years. Its Kingston-upon-Thames depot houses up to 3,000 stones (including some man-made composites), which range from £250 per sq m up to £2,900 per sq m for some of the rarest marbles. Ring 020 8390 4656, or visit geraldculliford.co.uk.

4

4 Spotti Edizioni Milano made its debut this year with three collections possessing 'different but complementary voices'. The 'Duale' two-tables-in-one (£17,630 approx) are part of Marcante-Testa's 'Futuraforma' range, which nods to the Turin school of interior design, while Elisa Ossino's 'Check' table and stools (from £4,185 approx and £890 approx each respectively) have surfaces lightly incised with... that's right, you guessed it. Visit sem-milano.com.

5

5 Without a headboard a bed is just somewhere to sleep; with one of Lorford's eight custom-made models it becomes the centre-piece of a room. Shown from top: 'Seville' and 'Jaipur', yours for £1,095 each. Ring 020 3434 3133, or visit lorfords.com.

6

6 Stairway to heaven: Agnès Emery and her team of trusty craftsmen in Morocco have hammered out seven divine wrought-iron handrails (from £34 approx per finial, plus £49 approx per m of pole). Ring 00 32 2 513 58 92, or visit emeryetcie.com.

7 Handcrafted in nine finishes or any colour, Reid & Wright's mirrors are among the fairest you can hang on a wall. Shown from top: 'Dressing' (£880), which is inspired by Georgian shapes, and 'Oval', which is available in four sizes (from £450). Ring 07525 838810, or visit reidandwright.london.

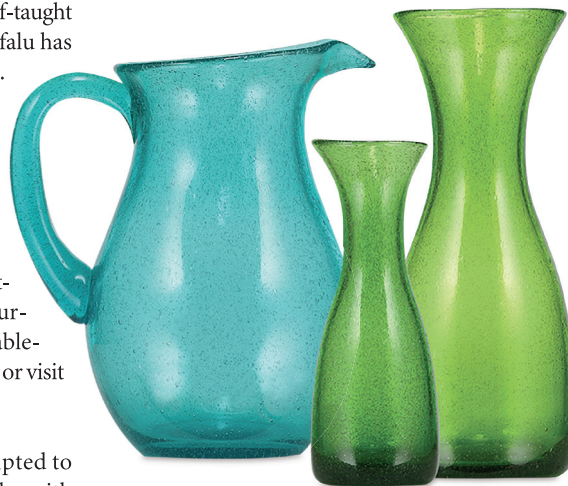

7

8

8 Gifted gardener, cattle farmer and self-taught plumber/electrician, Nalinji Charo Kifalu has revealed another talent: appliqué work. When he mentioned trying his hand at something like Dhahabu's embroideries (Wol Oct 2012), Kirsten Hecktermann suggested he experiment with offcuts from her clothing range and local Kenyan calico – then left him to his own creative devices. The delightful results are available as panels for curtains and lampshades or as finished tablecloths (from £144). Ring 07887 680672, or visit kirstenhecktermann.com.

9

9 In 1931 the British Council attempted to unify colours across our imperial realm with 'dictionaries of colour'. It is to one of these tomes that British Colour Standard refers when creating its homewares, the latest being bubble-glass jugs and tumblers (from £6 each). Ring 020 7620 2091, or visit britishcolourstandard.com.

10 Pretty in pink, isn't she? Ochre's beech-frame 'Gatsby' sofa is all the more attractive for being upholstered in a mildly clashing combination of pink linen and peach velvet (£8,406). Ring 020 7096 7372, or visit ochre.net. ▷

10