ZYNNA

Zynna's latest collection of elegant upholstery and sheer drapery fabric is inspired by the vivacity of the French countryside. The aim of this collection is to bring the art, style, sophistication and colour of France to your home. The fabric is blended with a mix of bold and soft colours with 12 dramatic patterns in five different themes. This new range features soothing tones of pastels, creme, aqua, lime and green.

SIHASN

Sihasn recently unveiled its Naga-themed collections, which include shawls and a new line of furniture, the highlights of which are the Nizam lounge chair and Yogi folding chair. The Naga shawls are sourced from Chizami Weaves — a North East Network Resource Centre initiative. Starting with just seven weavers in 2008, Chizami Weaves today has 600 women in its network across 14 villages in the Phek district of Nagaland as well as urban settlers in Kohima. The fine and aquiline structure of the lounge chair lends a royal look. Firm and flexible in its structure, the comfortable Yogi folding chair can be stacked. Both are upholstered in ceramic Naga cotton weaves with patterns in black, white, pink and brown and beading detail.

KLOVE STUDIO

Klove Studio's latest offering is The Shamanic Soul collection of lighting. It is inspired by shamanism and explores various elements associated with the journey of connecting with nature and its creations. The Gypsy Caravan, for example, comprises various totem pillars made entirely of blown glass and cast in brass. It also houses 20 different products inspired by shamanic power symbols like totems, tigers and eagles. The totem refers to the shamanic belief that any living creature including plants and trees can serve as a power animal or spirit guide. Next to the pillars, two eagle totems stand tall with their wings and Swarovski tassels spread out magnificently, showcasing their feathers. At the centre of the caravan lies a pipette screen which can be used separately as a room divider depicting the light installation of a wolf, an expression of sharp intelligence and strong instincts, along with a tiger, an independent, confident and powerful silent hunter. It symbolizes clearing the mind of all distractions and being focused on the present moment. These elements are juxtaposed with various lights such as the Art Nouveau chandelier, dream catchers, headgears, ceiling lights and heart wall lights.
