The exquisitely designed Meraki Emeralds collection celebrates the strong, independent spirit of women and is an extension of the iconic J'aime collection. Each pavé stone in this collection has been carefully selected, as its brilliance and charm reflect the strength and beauty of a woman. The Meraki Emeralds collection is a symbol of timeless elegance and modernity, and to empower women and encourage them to accept their distinctive qualities, overcome challenges and shine .like a star in the sky

Emeralds are at the center of all Gargi designs in this and previous collections. The Meraki Emeralds collection shines with clear diamonds, 18-karat gold, and emeralds imported responsibly from the Gemfields mines in Zambia. Coincidentally, Gargi used to visit the Zambian markets with her mother weekly when she was young, where she was amazed by the beauty of the emeralds displayed on the side of the street, and from here her dream of working in the field was .born. The beauty of the Zambian emerald left a strong impression on Gargi's childhood, so much so that she became fond of the gemstone and was determined to make it available to women to shine with it in their daily looks. The new collection, available exclusively on Net-a-Porter, is an extension of the J'aime collection and includes pieces designed by the most skilled craftsmen. As usual from .House of Meraki in all its designs, this collection is characterized by quality and craftsmanship

This collection celebrates the beauty and rarity of this stone, as it is rarer and often more valuable than a transparent diamond. Gemfields has discovered some of the most valuable emeralds from its Kagem mine in Zambia, where it is considered the first authority in the field of mining these .captivating and precious gemstones

It is noteworthy that emeralds add a colorful and fun touch to any look, and are easy to coordinate in many ways, either stacked with other jewelry or contrasting with colored stones. It must be taken good care of, by cleaning it and keeping it away from any harder stones that may scratch it. It is important to choose the right gemstone by following some simple rules, which are looking for a homogeneous and saturated color, examining the stone under sunlight to evaluate it accurately, purchasing only from a reliable source that adheres to sustainable practices, and searching for .rare stones; The most important thing is that a person buys the stone that makes his heart warm
