MARCH 27

Living in Harmony With Your Gifts

It takes time and practice to find the flow of what works best for you. What works best for you will also change from season to season, year to year, or during different parts of the lunar cycle. As we are so close to the end of this program, it is a good time to take inventory of what has been working for you and how you would like to continue to use it.

We are now in the time of the waning moon. Classically, this is a time of release. We also have some very creative and intuitive aspects impacting us. Let's go over some of the upcoming astrology for clarity:

Mercury remains tightly conjunct Neptune through April 6th, although the influence is felt all the way until April 17th. April 17th is also the end of the SHADOW PERIOD. This is when Mercury has retraced it's retrograde territory in direct (forward) motion and will finally arrive to a new degree (and in this case, enter the sign of Aries.)

So much momentum is possible from April 17th and beyond! In the meantime, you'll want to still keep retrograde precautions in effect until April 2nd at least. This means, still, no contracts, major tech purchases, etc. If you have the option to wait out the whole shadow period before making a big life decision, that can be ideal because it allows time for the lessons of mercury retrograde to integrate.

On April 5th, we will have an Aries New Moon and that's really the beginning of looking toward the future with clearer eyes. Just remember that with Neptune still in the mix, our imaginations will be stronger than our proofreader/accountant/detail-oriented side.

Summary

March 28th: end of retrograde

April 2nd: can lighten up on retrograde precautions

April 5th: New Moon in Aries

April 17th: Shadow period and ends and return to greater clarity/momentum

This means that some of the best days for working with program material are yet to come! Definitely up until the New Moon is a beautiful time to keep tracking your dreams, working with your exercises, and especially because of the strong influence doing your GROUNDING. If you do nothing else, please continue your grounding work through April 5th. It will help so much! There's a high level of sensitivity to substances and energy in general now and for the next few weeks, so it's a good time to practice discernment around what you bring into your field.

Inventory #21:

- What tools have been most useful for me since this process began on March 6th?
- What has been the most fun?
- What are some examples of repeating symbols that have come through?
(In dreams, life, meditation)
- Have I gained any new spirit team members?
- Have I deepened any relationships with guides?
- Is there anything I've changed about my daily routine? What?
And are there benefits?
- Have I had any especially important realizations?
- What parts of my intuition do I still want to open up more? Is there anything we've done in the past few weeks that would continue helping that?
- Make a list of signs, symbols, messages, and spirit communications you've received during this time (both those you know the meaning and those you don't)
- What has been most challenging?
- What blocks have come up to either doing the practices or feeling successful with them?

Excercise

Take some time to envision what you would like your daily routines that support you to be. Be sure to think of the most important things like sleep, rest, meditation, and nourishment. How often can you get into nature? What will help motivate you to do that regularly? (hint: enjoyment is key to motivation!)

What does it mean to you to embody your high priestess essence going forward? How do you envision this unfolding?

Pull one card or a few for further guidance on this.

If you feel stuck or any kind of block at this point in time, try this spread:

Card 1: The path to what you want

Card 2: The block

Card 3: The key to removing the block

you can also add:

Card 4: Next right action to take

Now write your ideal day (or a few examples, like say weekday and weekend, or whatever suits your personal timeline) for what facilitates your intuitive flow based on what you've observed so far.

Bring these to your altar and ask for helpful in manifesting and creating this. Your ideal day creates your ideal life. Make an offering of incense, candy, honey, or what you think is appropriate. Ask for help and guidance in following your path.
