

August is my month of planning and prepping to ensure that when the seasonal chaos hits, I don't have any extra tasks I don't need getting in the way.

First grab a cuppa and make a list of all the people who are getting a basket and what you are going to put in their basket. This gives you time to make any extras or adjust with plenty of time.

Don't forget that gift baskets can be for any occasion so to begin with grab generic supplies that will service a lot of different situations.

You will find links to amazon supplies on the page rather than in this download which you can click.
