BOOK 3

At the end of Book 2, "The prayers of David the son of Jesse are completed" (Ps 72:20). Psalm 72's superscription "Of Solomon," and the fact that after Book 2 only one psalm contains historical information in its superscription (Ps 142, whereas twelve psalms in Books 1 and 2 had these), join together to suggest that when we move into Book 3 we move past David's life into the reign of those who descended from him. This impression is strengthened by the move away from psalms ascribed to David. Whereas fifty-five of Psalms 1–72 are "Of David," only one Psalm in Book 3 (Ps 86) and two in Book 4 are ascribed to him (Pss 101 and 103). And then there is the content of the psalms of Book 3: Psalms 74 and 79 describe attacks on the temple, and Ps 89 seems to respond to its destruction when Babylon conquered the city and dethroned the Davidic king.

We have seen how psalms at the seams of the books have engaged Pss 1 and 2, and Ps 89 interacts in particular with Ps 2. Just as Ps 2 rehearsed the 2 Sam 7 promises to David, so Ps 89 deals with the covenant Yahweh made with David as narrated in that passage. Psalm 2 recounts Yahweh's declaration, "My son are you, I, today, have begotten you," before rehearsing Yahweh's promise that his son would inherit and possess the ends of the earth (2:7–8). Similarly, Ps 89 has the son crying out "My father are you" (89:26 [MT 89:27]), with Yahweh promising to "give him as the firstborn, the most high of the kings of earth" (89:27 [MT 89:28]).

In addition to engaging the beginning of the Psalter (the links with Ps 2), Psalm 89 also recalls the end of Book 3 by means of its interaction with themes from Ps 72. The prayer in Ps 72 entails oppressors being crushed (דכא), 72:4), and Ps 89:23 has Yahweh promising to crush his foes (בתת). The prayer in 72:8 is for the son to reign "from sea to sea, and from the river to the ends of the earth," and in 89:25 (MT 89:26) Yahweh promises, "I will put his hand on the sea, and on the river his right hand." Both Pss 72 and 89 indicate that the king from David's line will reign as long as the moon continues to shine (72:5; 89:37 [MT 89:38]). Standing at the end of books, 72 and 89 both conclude with doxologies (72:18–19; 89:52 [MT 89:53]).

2 Psalm 73

For the literary structure of Books 2 and 3, see "The Literary Structure and Meaning of the Psalter" in the introduction. For the flow of thought in Pss 73–89, see the "Context" section on each psalm in this unit.

Psalm 73

OVERVIEW AND STRUCTURE OF PSALM 73

The psalm opens with an affirmation of God's goodness to Israel (73:1), but the psalmist explains how he almost stumbled over the prosperity of the wicked (73:2–12). His explanation of how he almost stumbled in 73:2 opens with "But as for me." The psalm then closes with an affirmation of God's goodness to the psalmist personally, a phrase that also begins with "But as for me" (73:28).

In Ps 73:1–12 the psalmist reflects on how he was tempted when he beheld the shalom of the wicked. He then relates in 73:13–17 how he was tempted to betray God's people by envying the wicked, until he entered God's holy places and perceived the end that awaits the enemies of God. Psalm 73 concludes in 73:18–28 with a resolution of the problem that

SCRIPTURE

CSB

A psalm of Asaph.

¹God is indeed good to Israel, to the pure in heart. ²But as for me, my feet almost slipped; my steps nearly went astray. ³For I envied the arrogant;

I saw the prosperity of the wicked.

⁴They have an easy time until they die, and their bodies are well fed. ⁵They are not in trouble like others; they are not afflicted like most people.

⁶Therefore, pride is their necklace, and violence covers them like a garment.

⁷Their eyes bulge out from fatness; the imaginations of their hearts run wild.

8 They mock, and they speak maliciously;

they arrogantly threaten oppression.
They set their mouths against

⁹They set their mouths against heaven,

and their tongues strut across the earth.

¹⁰Therefore his people turn to them and drink in their overflowing words.

¹¹The wicked say, "How can God know?

Does the Most High know everything?"

Look at them—the wicked!

Author's translation

- ¹ A Psalm of Asaph. Surely God is good to Israel, to the pure of heart.
- ² But as for me, my feet almost rolled; like nothing my steps were poured out,
- ³ for I envied the boastful. I saw the shalom of the wicked:
- ⁴ for there are no bonds to their death, and fat is their belly.
- ⁵ In the trouble of man they have no part, and with man they are not plagued.
- ⁶ Therefore his necklace is majesty; a garment of violence covers them.
- ⁷ Their eye goes out from fatness; the imaginations of the heart cross over.
- 8 They mock and speak in evil. Oppression from on high they speak.
- ⁹ They have set their mouth against the heavens, and their tongue walks the earth.
- Therefore his people return here, and the full waters are drained out for them.
- ¹¹ And they said, "How does God know? And is there knowledge with the Most High?"
- ¹² Behold, these are the wicked, and the ones at ease of the age:

4 Psalm 73

They are always at ease, and they increase their wealth.

- Did I purify my heart and wash my hands in innocence for nothing?
- ¹⁴For I am afflicted all day long and punished every morning.
- ¹⁵ If I had decided to say these things aloud,
- I would have betrayed your people.

 16 When I tried to understand all this, it seemed hopeless
- ¹⁷ until I entered God's sanctuary. Then I understood their destiny.
- ¹⁸ Indeed, you put them in slippery places;

you make them fall into ruin.

- ¹⁹ How suddenly they become a desolation!
- They come to an end, swept away by terrors.
- ²⁰Like one waking from a dream, Lord, when arising, you will despise their image.
- ²¹When I became embittered and my innermost being was wounded,
- ²²I was stupid and didn't understand; I was an unthinking animal toward you.
- ²³Yet I am always with you; you hold my right hand.
- ²⁴ You guide me with your counsel, and afterward you will take me up in glory.
- ²⁵ Who do I have in heaven but you? And I desire nothing on earth but you. ²⁶ My flesh and my heart may fail, but God is the strength of my heart, my portion forever.
- ²⁷Those far from you will certainly perish;

they have increased wealth.

- ¹³ Surely in vain I cleansed my heart and washed my hands in innocence.
- ¹⁴ And I was plagued all the day, and my reprimands every morning.
- ¹⁵ If I said, I will recount it like this, behold, I would have betrayed the generation of your sons.
- ¹⁶ And when I considered to know this, it was trouble in my eyes,
- ¹⁷ until I went to the holy places of God.

I understood their end.

- ¹⁸ Surely you put them in slippery places. You cause them to fall in deceptions.
- ¹⁹ How they have suddenly become desolations! They come to an end, finished by terrors.
- ²⁰ Like a dream on waking, my Lord, on rising their image you despise.
- ²¹ When my heart was embittered, and in my kidneys I was pierced,
- ²² then I was brutish and did not know: like beasts I was with you.
- ²³ Yet I am continually with you. You have taken hold of my right hand.
- ²⁴ In your counsel lead me, and afterward in glory receive me.
- 25 Who is for me in the heavens? And with you, I have no desire on the earth.
- ²⁶ Spent are my flesh and my heart. The rock of my heart and my portion to the age is God.
- ²⁷ For behold, those who leave you will perish.
- You annihilate all who play the whore from you.
- ²⁸ But as for me, the nearness of God is my good.

Psalm 73 5

you destroy all who are unfaithful to you.

²⁸But as for me, God's presence is my good.

I have made the Lord God my refuge, so I can tell about all you do.

I have set my refuge in my Lord Yahweh, to recount all his works.

CONTEXT: VERBAL AND THEMATIC LINKS WITH SURROUNDING PSALMS

As noted above, Ps 73 responds to the prayer of Ps 72. The ideal situation prayed for in Ps 72 meets wicked reality in Ps 73, causing the psalmist no little consternation. The reuse of Ps 72 terminology in Ps 73 brings out this dynamic. Whereas Ps 72:3 and 7 contain prayers for the shalom of God's people, Ps 73:3 objects to the shalom of the wicked. In 72:14 the future king redeems his people from "violence," but in 73:6 the wicked have covered themselves with a garment of "violence." In 72:4 David prays that the king will crush the "oppressor," while in 73:8 the proud speak "oppression." The reuse of key terms from Ps 72 indicates that the psalmist's perplexity in Ps 73 (note his confessed lack of understanding in 73:16, 22) arises from the dissonance between what was prayed for in Ps 72 and his perception of the way things are in Ps 73.4

Psalm 73 is the first of a series of psalms of Asaph (Pss 73–83; Ps 50 is also attributed to him). See the opening comments in the exposition of Ps 50 for what the OT says elsewhere about Asaph. Second Chronicles 29:30 describes the Levites praising Yahweh with the words of David and Asaph, which seems to indicate that the psalms with "Of David" and "Of Asaph" in their superscriptions were understood to have been written by David and Asaph (see further "The Superscriptions of the Psalms" in the introduction). The placement of these Asaph psalms (Pss 73–83) after the prayers of David have ended (72:20) strengthens the impression that the reign of David has come to an end, and, in the Psalter's impressionistic narrative, the story shifts to the period of Israel's history between David and exile in Ps 89. The placement of these psalms after the end of David's prayers may also indicate that Asaph's ministry continued into the reign of Solomon.
