Australian jewellery designer raising the bar for unique pieces

Australian Jewellery Designer, Simone Walsh, is making it easier for Australians to access unique, fine and fashion jewellery through her fascinating online jewellery shop.

Simone Walsh specialises in designing contemporary and unique jewellery that is created from precious metals: particularly sterling silver, with gold and gemstone highlights. Visitors to the Simone Walsh Jewellery website can choose from a unique collection of charming and intricately designed jewellery that cannot be found anywhere else. From stud and dangle earrings to statement necklaces and wedding jewellery, there's nothing in the Simone Walsh Jewellery online store that doesn't command attention.

This makes the collection appealing to those who want to stand out from the crowd and make a statement with their jewellery. Some of the most popular pieces in the shop include an Arabesque pendant on vivid red beads, a Lily of the Valley necklace with lustrous pearls, delightful Forget-me-nots pendants on silver chain or silk, and sets of elegantly simple textured silver stacking rings.

Not all jewellery is made equal and when it comes to quality and authentic designs, Simone Walsh is in a league by herself. Apart from the uniqueness of the jewellery collection, Simone Walsh Jewellery is committed to producing ethical jewellery. Simone seeks to use ethically mined or lab grown gemstones and recycles all gold and sterling silver. In addition, she endeavours to use as much recycled precious metals as possible.

Simone has been designing jewellery for over two decades. Her pieces reflect the depth of her experience and the passion for her craft. When asked what motivated her to pursue a career in this field, she said: "I've always been drawn towards the sparkly and the ornamental. When I was a kid growing up in Adelaide I had a vast collection of ornate, vintage buttons that I would play with for hours on end. Around 1992 my love of beautiful and intriguing objects came back into focus when I stumbled across a simple yet fascinating statement necklace. I got myself some pliers, wire and glass to see if I could replicate the unusual design. I was hooked."

Though based in Australia, Simone's talent for art jewellery has captured eyes and hearts of many across the world. Simone Walsh Jewellery has customers from as far afield as Britain, France and the United States. One customer summed up the overall appeal of Simone's jewellery. She said: "It's so rare to find eco-conscious jewellery that has this sort of old-world elegance."

The uniqueness and authenticity of Simone Walsh Jewellery designs make them unique gift ideas for birthdays, anniversaries and other special occasions.
