

For Immediate Release

Date: 09/10/2018

Talevation Launches TAP

Talevation, the #1 B2B Provider of Skills & Behavioral Talent Assessments for Enterprise Organizations - Announces the Launch of the Talent Assessments Platform (TAP), their New B2C Marketplace for Individuals to Self-Assess.

Carmel, Indiana, September 10, 2018 - Talevation®, headquartered in Carmel, IN - announces the launch of their new Talent Assessments Platform (TAP)™, which is an online Business to Consumer (B2C) digital marketplace, where individuals can self-test their specific skills and behavioral attributes. The purpose and benefits with TAP, are to help individuals across the world affordably evaluate, prove, prepare and position for jobs and career support - as well as help them identify, determine, manage and develop new competencies and capabilities.

“We are super excited about TAP,” said Scott Abbott, Managing Partner with Talevation. “In addition to currently working with and serving thousands of enterprise organizations across the USA, it’s truly rewarding to now provide globally - an affordable, easy-to-use, online solution for everybody that wants to self-assess their current skills and behaviors. As we all know, self-development and self-representation are important components/requirements to personal responsibility and professional success, and we are thrilled and honored to help.”

Talevation, in partnership with IBM® Kenexa Assess on Cloud™, provides over 1,000 skills and behavioral tests that are used to frame, validate, measure and substantiate the fit and proficiency of potential and current employees. Talevation helps organizations of all sizes, take the guesswork out of their talent decisions: from hiring the right people, to career development, and employee engagement. Talevation supports 3,500+ enterprise organizations and locations, which collectively administer over one million individual skills and behavioral tests per month.

For more information on TAP and Talevation, go to www.talevation.com. For media inquiries, please contact Scott Abbott at 317-413-7037, and email scott@talevation.com.

#####

All company and product names are the registered trademarks of their respective companies.