HOW-TO: CUBE A MANGO

The mango is an asymmetrical oval shaped fruit. Cut a thin slice from the non stem end and stand vertically. Be careful to avoid the long flat seed when slicing off the sides.

Place the side skin side down and crosshatch the flesh.

Pick up the crosshatched side and turn it inside out by pushing down on the edges and up in the middle. Slide the edge of the blade underneath the cubes in a parallel direction to remove them from the skin.
