
Levantine Hill, its foundation raison d'être, is all about the wine. But not just any wine.

Ours is a myopic, bloody-minded obsession to achieve perfection in all that we do. In order to understand greatness and begin to map out a path to achieving it, we need to compare our wines with the greatest examples of their kind in existence.

The French varietal wines, grouped with our interpretations on this wine list, are our 'go to' wines whenever we seek to recalibrate our senses as to the pinnacle of achievement of the varieties with which we have chosen to work. With our singular focus, these are the only comparisons we wish to draw.

We have an unbridled respect and reverence for the spiritual homelands of these noble majestic grape varieties. These examples are our benchmarks and blueprints. However, we never seek to replicate them. That would be pointless and a folly, as we are on the other side of the world with a completely different climate, soils, latitude and the like.

Our wines are the true expressions of 'our place' and these inimitable qualities are what we strive to highlight, in all their idiosyncrasies and respective pleasures.

Paul Bridgeman, Winemaker
