

MVP Launch Manager

Take our business to 1,000 bags per day (m/f – immediately)

Revolutionizing the European Handbag Market

Join the No. 1 Brand for Bags in Europe!

We are Buckle & Seam, the fastest growing direct-to-consumer bag brand in Europe right in the centre of Berlin. Together with you, our experienced and international founding team wants to disrupt the European bags & accessory industry, that has been rigid for far too long! Your combination of analytical and strategic mindset paired with a sense of humor will be an ideal fit to join our dynamic team that is not only dedicated to growth but also to your personal development.

Your Role

This is not a customer service role!

- Trend forecasting and product development
- Driver of strategic initiative to increase revenue and build up new sales channel
- Global community building and networking with high profile individuals
- Link between product and marketing management

Your Profile

- Student or recent graduate with strong academic record in product management, business administration or marketing
- Self-starter with energy and drive to push projects ahead independently
- Dynamic, fast-paced and communicative individual
- You are eager to learn and receptive to constructive feedback

Perks

- High degree of responsibility and a steep learning curve
- Close work together with Founding Managers
- Competitive salary, free bags & an amazing office in the centre of Berlin

Send your application, including a CV and your letter of motivation to georg.wolff@buckleandseam.com

About Buckle & Seam – We offer today's modern man a leather bag, that not only caters to his every day professional needs but, most of all, a bag that he feels comfortable wearing. Made out of vegetable tanned leather with a purpose in mind our bags offer a maximum of functionality with minimalistic design while serving a purpose. To learn more visit us @ www.buckleandseam.com

Awards & Press

