

V1:

Some say you'll feel it breathing, some say you'll see it from the moon.
It's standing right beside us, filling up the room.

V2:

Your ways are strange or so I'm told, never need anyone else to hold
At ease with those you don't know and lost with those you do.

Pre CHOR

And you've governed men and mountains for quite a while
Been the master of your own life, your own style
Ridden rails without the fear but there's nothing getting clearer.
Lock-on your crooked frown, your crooked smile
See the trapped-boy fear in your eyes from ½ a mile
There'll be no begging here
Yeah, that's one thing you will never do.

V3:

Some say it's like a deluge, peels off your skin, strips you away
Draws tenderness from dry bones and stony-hearted ways

LU:

Cos I've conquered men and mountains for quite a while
Been my own girl for all of my life.
Ridden rails without the fear, now there's something getting clearer.
Yeah—and I've lived some savage sense of relief
Taken on the monsters, still not become the beast.
There'll be no begging here
And that's one thing you've got to hear, now

CHOR:

I-----won't beg you (x3)
Yeah, that's one thing I will never do.

V4:

Some say when hearts are broken, take one last shot before it's thru
I say I'll never beg you but I guess that's what I really doing.....
