

“GLACIAL”

© Ronnie Taheny June 2008

Here, here. This is a club for the weird
You're welcome if you're too shy to appear
And members will never come near you.
But they'll try to capture a social affair
They'd like to get lucky, they've got themselves here
Now, stand back and watch them all go nowhere.

Cos it's a tricky navigation when the egg's drawn to the face
It could change this situation from its stately glacial pace.
They could try it once, try it twice, they're trying even now
It's the odd-shaped-fruit parade
It's why the others have it made.

There's a line that they never would cross at anytime
Guarding the gates of their hearts and their minds
Cos they're too refined for seduction.
Underneath, where courage is losing its hair and its teeth
They're hanging on to some hope and belief
They'll leave all the rest to deduction.

Cos it's a tricky navigation when the egg's drawn to the face
It could change this situation from its stately glacial pace.
They could try it once, try it twice, they're trying even now
They're the odd-shaped-fruit brigade.
It's why the others have it made.

Why the others have it made, why they have it made.
Why they have it, yeah, they have it, let em have it, they can have it.

Cos it's a tricky navigation when the egg's drawn to the face
It could change this situation from its stately glacial pace.
They could try it once, try it twice, they're trying even now
To turn away and stay afraid
And let the others, all the others have it made.