Drummers Endorse WFLIII Drums Across Multiple Genres

Rock, Pop, Country, Jazz, Classical Players

All Drawing Inspiration from drums crafted by Bill Ludwig III,

Drummers across a wide spectrum of musical genres are resonating with the sound and quality of WFLIII Drums. Touring, studio and garage band musicians playing Rock to Country to Jazz and everything in between are discovering their new favorite instruments.

The company's expanding roster of endorsers include Bobby "T" Torello (Johnny Winter, Classic Drummer Hall of Fame), Scott Williamson (Nashville Session Player), Kofi Baker (The Cream Experience), Greg Herrington (Martina McBride), Adam Ferraioli (Get the Led Out), Joe Corsello (Sonny Rollins, Educator/Author), Teddy Boldt (for KING & COUNTRY), Drew Kerxton (We Are Messengers), Brian Beihl (Big Daddy Weave), Martin Cash (We The Kingdom) and more.

"The WFLIII Drums kit is close to euphoric sounding to me," says Bobby "T." "They are the best drums I've ever played, and I've been doing this for five decades."

"What I love about WFLIII Drums is that every time I hit the drum, it sounds like the way I think a drum is supposed to sound," adds Williamson. "It's just really warm, there's great stick attack, I don't have to work really hard to tune the toms to sound the way I want them to. There's an even symmetry around the bearing edge. Every time we've set a kit up anywhere, it's always been an improvement over what was there."

Founding WFLIII Drums with uncompromising vision, Bill III says, "We don't just make drums and percussion tools, we craft them—and make every customer feel special. I want WFLIII Drums to be forward thinking and innovative."
