

About Glandex®

Glandex® is an all-natural supplement specifically designed for anal gland problems in dogs and cats. Glandex is formulated with the precise amount of fiber to promote natural emptying of the anal glands as well as other key ingredients to target the underlying causes of anal gland problems.

Benefits

- Supports healthy anal glands
- Guaranteed results within 3-5 weeks
- Veterinarian recommended
- Great tasting chews
- All-natural premium ingredients

Ingredients

Glandex® is made in the USA with only the highest quality all-natural ingredients including pumpkin seed, apple pectin cellulose, quercetin dihydrate, bromelain, and lactobacillus acidophilus

Anal Gland & Digestive Support for Dogs & Cats

Made in the U.S.A.
Satisfaction Guaranteed

Proudly Distributed by Orivet Genetic Pet Care

P.O. Box 110 St Kilda 3182 VIC
Ph: 03 9534 1544
Email: info@orivet.com.au
Website: www.orivet.com

www.glandex.com.au

glandex®

It's Time to Leave Your Pet's Anal Gland Problems Behind.

boot the scoot!*™

Anal Glands in Pets

What are anal glands?

Anal glands are two small glands (also referred to as anal sacs) located inside the anal opening of all dogs and cats. These glands normally release a small amount of foul-smelling scent marking liquid every time your pet defecates. Many pets develop anal gland problems at some point in their lifetime requiring veterinary attention.

What causes anal gland problems?

Whenever the anal glands become blocked, overfilled, or inflamed it causes discomfort for your pet and can lead to further problems. Common reasons why your pet may be experiencing anal gland problems include soft or loose stools, digestive issues, allergies, infection, obesity, poor anatomy, or a combination of these things.

What are the symptoms?

Symptoms of anal gland problems can vary for every pet however common signs that may indicate that your pet has an anal gland problem include scooting, excessive licking of the anal area, straining to defecate, releasing a sudden foul odor, pain or discomfort of the hind-end, or bleeding/swelling near the anal area. In cats, symptoms are typically less obvious but may include defecating outside of the litter box.

When should I be concerned?

If your pet is experiencing any signs of anal gland problems, you should consult with your veterinarian immediately because anal gland problems left untreated can develop into further problems including an infection or an abscess. If your pet's anal glands are full then they will need to be emptied by your veterinarian. If there are signs of infection then prescription medications including antibiotics may be needed.

What can be done to prevent anal gland problems?

Using Glandex® regularly can help support healthy anal gland function and may help to reduce the severity of anal gland problems. Along with using Glandex® it is important to feed your pet a consistent high-quality diet free from excessive fillers. It is also important to maintain your pet's ideal weight. Working with your veterinarian to resolve any underlying causes of your pet's anal gland problems such as allergies or digestive issues is also key. In some severe cases, the anal glands may need to be surgically removed.

What are the indications for using Glandex®?

Glandex® is specifically designed for pets with anal gland problems including those that require frequent anal gland expressing or pets that are prone to anal gland infections and/or abscesses. You should discuss with your veterinarian if Glandex is right for your pet.

How does Glandex® work?

Glandex® works from the inside out to help promote healthy anal gland function. Formulated with a unique fiber blend, Glandex helps to create firm and bulky stools to allow your pet to empty their anal glands naturally every time they defecate. Glandex also contains natural anti-inflammatories to reduce the underlying inflammation and allergies that trigger anal gland problems as well as probiotics and digestive enzymes to support a healthy digestive tract.

How do you give Glandex®?

Glandex® comes as an easy-to-use peanut butter soft chew treat. Great formula with a taste that your pet will love! Simply give Glandex to your pet once daily using the suggested dosing guidelines on the label.

boot the scoot!™

