Jannah Home at Last

Omar Suleiman

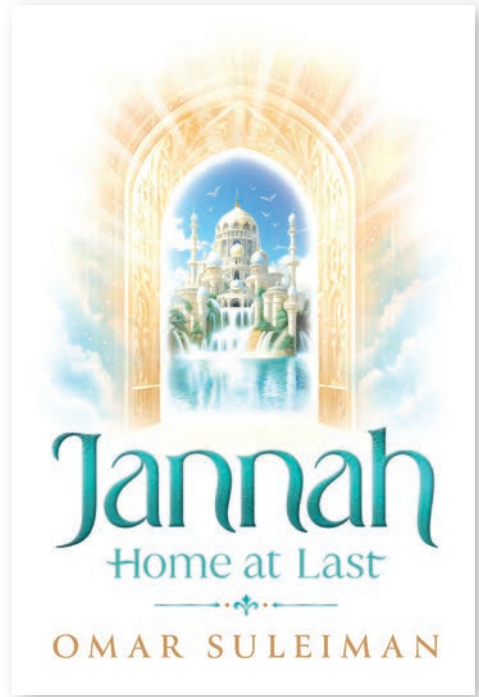

Whatever our situation may be in this life, a life of struggle or comfort, our inevitable fate is the same as the life of this world is temporary.

O believer, this world is not meant to be your paradise, but knowing that Paradise awaits, makes this journey so much more bearable and rewarding. Remember that every difficulty is temporary and every moment is an opportunity. If you get this right, after all your struggles, all you tests and trials know that your eternal sanctuary awaits.

Jannah, that is built by your deeds and decorated by your du'ās. Chalets of crystals sparking on the horizon for a soul that gave up sin, tree trunks of green emerald and branches of gold for a simple word of remembrance. Each of your shuddering breaths, every second of discomfort you faced, and every one of your sacrifices, all have been accounted for, repaid with sights and rewards unimaginable and the company of the Most High.

Build your eternal home, decorate your eternal home. Long for your eternal home...

Omar Suleiman is the Founder and President of the Yaqeen Institute for Islamic Research and Professor of Islamic Studies at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, USA.

Builders of a Nation

Haifaa Younis

Historically, women have been an integral part of spreading our Deen. They have contributed as mothers', wives, supporters and defenders of our religion. This book allows the reader to take a glimpse into the lives of thirty-seven amazing women. Starting with the women from the Prophet's household to female companions and pioneers of Islamic History. Women in Islamic History have had a huge impact on building nations. May that have been through education, raising children, raising scholars or being scholars themselves. These exceptional women have helped shape the world. These women have a lot of favours upon us, the least we can do is learn about them and share their amazing lives with others so that they can also be inspired.

Dr. Haifaa Younis is an American Board Certified Obstetrician and Gynaecologist with roots from Iraq. She is the founder, Chairman and Resident Scholar at Jannah Institute and Resident Scholar at Islamic Centre of Irvine, California. Currently, she lives and works in the United States and teaches various Islamic Studies courses with a focus on purification of the heart (Tazkiyah).

Strength from within

Insights on how to cope, grow and flourish during life's trials based on living with physical disabilities

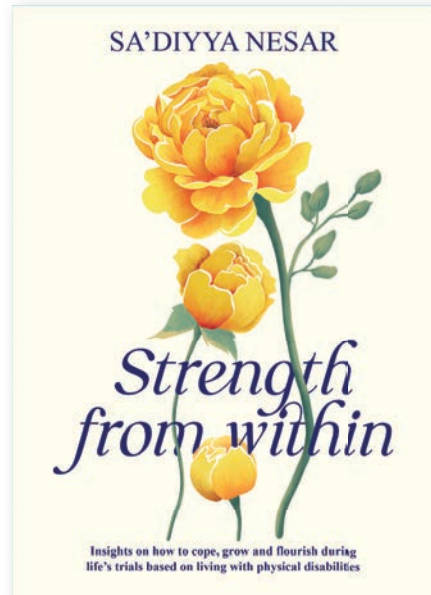

Sa'diyya Nesar

TEDx Speaker and author of book on Allah's names, 'Hearts that Remember'

This book is the fulfilment of my promise to Allah, the One that heard, answered, and released that eight-year-old-girl from the hospital. It contains the most challenging encounters from my life with physical disabilities. It delves into the struggles that I faced both externally and internally, and how I coped. It delves into the reality of how we all face adversities and the beauty that can be found within these hardships.

It uncovers lessons that will allow us to appreciate life on a whole different level. This book contains the hidden gems and treasures unearthed from the trials in our lives. The attainment of these treasures may be painful, but it ultimately provides comfort and hope. It is a reminder to never give up, just like the chosen examples before us.

This book is not a self-help book, nor a memoir, but instead contains personal insights based on what I learned throughout my experiences. Questions posed on social media platforms by the public for the past six years on my work as an international writer and speaker contributed to shaping the content of this book.

Sa'diyya Nesar received her Bachelors of Arts Degree in English Language & Literature from Hong Kong University. After that, she pursued her Islamic studies and worked as a writer for a variety of outlets, including the HuffPost. She is currently RESOLVE's social justice 2020 fellow for 'DisABILITIES: less assumptions, more conversations,' in Hong Kong. She is an international and TEDx speaker that delivers talks on her life with physical disabilities and how to derive strength from adversities. She finds inspiration using examples of those in Islamic history and is currently developing the "Community Care in Islam" series in Hong Kong while also pursuing her passion for poetry.

The Virtues of Dhul Hijjah Omar Suleiman

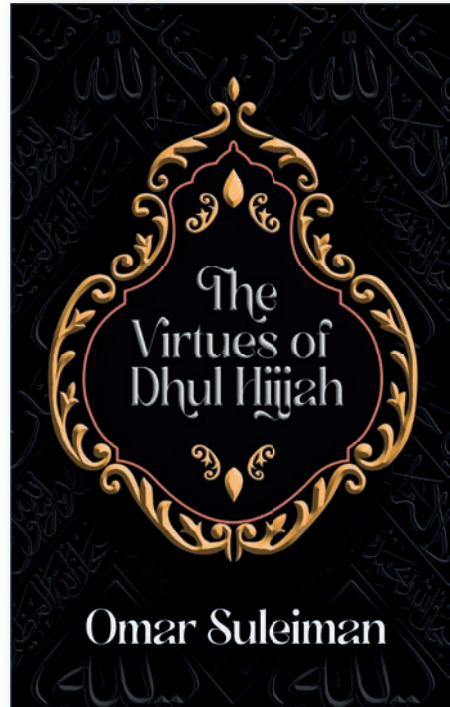

There are ten days of the year more blessed and beloved than any other. These are the first ten days of Dhul Hijjah. The blessings of these days are often overlooked, and many are not even aware of their virtues. Yet good deeds performed during these days outweigh any done throughout the rest of the year.

Ibn Abbas reported that the Prophet ﷺ said: “No good deeds are better than what is done in these first ten days of Dhul-Hijjah.” (Bukhari)

The greatness of Arafah, the virtues of Eid al-Adha, and the blessed days of Hajj all fall in these ten days.

Let us explore the virtues and blessings of Dhul Hijjah together through reflections on the Quran and authentic ahadith.

A Life with the Divine

25 Names of Allah and their everyday expressions in life

Ali Hammuda

Tradesmen look at buildings differently, depending on their trade: The carpenter casts an eye on the woodwork, the bricklayer on the brickwork and the painter on the walls and ceilings. Similarly, the greater a person’s perception of Allah’s names, the greater their alertness and understanding of life. Nothing passes them by, without thought and contemplation.

When they see a display of mercy, they automatically and very naturally reflect on the names of Allah; Al-Rahim” (The Most Merciful), Al-Ra’uf (The Pitying), Al-Wadūd (The Affectionate). When they sense might and awe, they are overcome with the names “Al-Jabbar” (The Compeller), “Al-Muntaqim” (The Avenger) and “Al-Qahhar” (The Subduer). Eventually, they reach a station where every scene that unfolds, any sin which presents itself or any opportunity that drifts by, becomes a trigger for perusal and the remembrance of Allah, the achievement of which is precisely the objective of this book.

Stay Connected A Pocket Guide of Prayers for Muslims

Abeer Arain

Our existence in this world is like that of a tree. The trunk is the main body that symbolizes our connection with our Creator, and the scattered branches are the life issues that revolve around us. If the trunk suffers from an imbalance, the entire tree feels the effect. The same goes for our connection with Allah. If not careful, one may easily fall into the trap of ghaflah and lose the important attribute of taqwā, the consciousness of Allah. The best way to improve our connection is by adopting the supplications of the Prophet ﷺ in our daily tasks.

Stay Connected: A pocket guide for working Muslims is a short guidebook for working Muslims on how to reroute the compass of their heart towards Allah in a busy day. May it motivate the reader to take a step towards improving their connection with Allah and gain His pleasure.

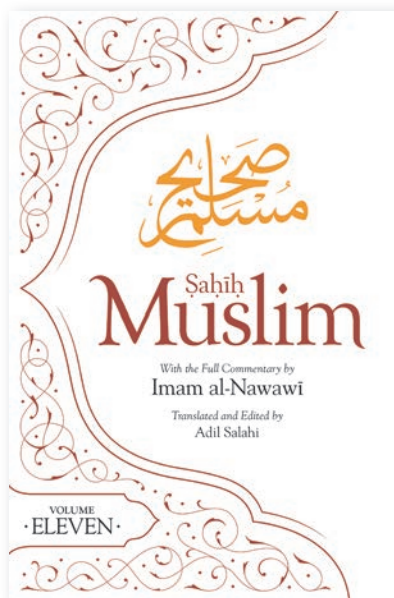

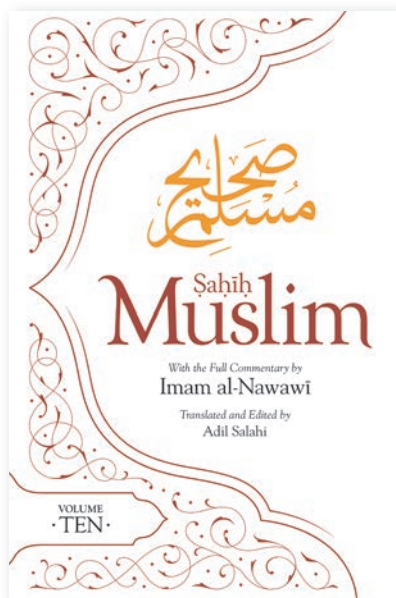

Abeer Arain, MD, MPH is a physician, writer, and a gardener. She writes about nature and Islam, self-care and anything that could become a source of Sadaqa Jariyah for her.

History of the Qur'an Approaches and Explorations Editor: F. Redhwan Karim

The Qur'an is the sacred religious book of Muslims around the world. Yet its history, from its inception in seventh-century Arabia to its transmission in the modern world, remains understudied. The twelve chapters in this book address this lacuna by examining multifaceted stages in the Qur'an's history and transmission through a broad range of methodological and theoretical approaches. The volume examines the earliest material evidence of the Qur'an through its manuscript tradition and explores their content and form. This includes a focus on the Qur'an's unique orthography and insights into the Sanaa manuscripts. Additionally, this work provides new insights by broaching upon critical moments in the Qur'an's history, such as the codification of Abu Bakr. A crucial component of the book deals with approaches to the variant readings of the Qur'an, understood as being sanctioned through narrations on the a'ruf. It explores fresh insights into how Muslim scholars theorised such variances and the way they related them to the qira'at, including how they approached the variant codices of prominent companions. Furthermore, this work explores understudied non-Qur'anic transmissions of the Qur'an alongside the historical development of Qur'an translations. This volume greatly advances the field of Qur'anic studies and Qur'anic history and will be of great interest to scholars and students alike.

Contributors include: M.A.S Abdel Haleem, Dr Yasir Qadhi, Stephen Curto, Meysam Kohantorabi, F. Redhwan Karim, Yousry Elseadawy, Eleonore Wellrad, Francois Deroche, Ammar Khatib, Zahed Fettah, Khairil Husaini Bin Jamil and Afsan Redwan.

Empowering Women: Unravelling Islamic Financial Rights

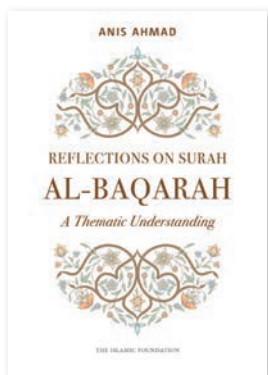

Rabab Goma

Embark on a journey through the various stages of life, from marriage to divorce and widowhood, to witness how women living within the Islamic tradition are endowed with the right to safeguard their financial independence. This comprehensive exploration confronts an ongoing disconnect between Islamic law and Muslim family dynamics to equip men and women alike with the knowledge and tools to uphold these rights. Importantly, the book fosters a deep understanding of how Islamic financial empowerment plays a pivotal role in shaping not just the lives of women and their family members, but society as a whole.

Rabab Goma, a University of Houston graduate, began her career as an architect. However, over the past 31 years, she has devoted her life to the study and teaching of Islamic Studies. She holds an Islamic Studies degree from Islamic American University, a Master's in Islamic Studies from American Open University, and earned her PhD in Islamic Law from American University for Human Sciences. Dr. Goma has a deep-rooted interest in women's rights and studies under Islamic law, general Islamic law, Islamic history, and comparative religious studies.

The Makers of Western Islam
Muhammad Mojlum Khan

“[A] work of great synthesis... [It] argues that the ‘makers of Western Islam’ have not only enriched Islam, but also humanity in general.”

– Dr Enes Karic

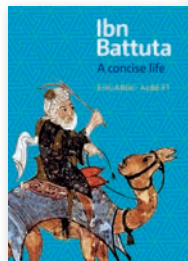

Through the lives of over 50 extraordinary Western Muslims a remarkably rich and diverse cultural history spanning 1400 years comes to light.

Dear Mother: Letters from the Heart
Suma Din

Dear Mother... brings together mothers of all ages and backgrounds in a compendium of fictional letters, written from the heart. Great challenges and responsibilities, hopes and disappointments are explored without apology. As one mother prepares for a newborn, another shares her experience of being a single parent. Why is a mother at the primary school gate feeling burnt out by 9 am and what advice does a grandmother pass down to her granddaughter? Whether she's sitting in the ante-natal clinic, on a bus or in the masjid, these letters reveal a variety of mothers' inner dialogue – one which is rarely heard in society.

The Aphorisms of Ibn Ata Allah

Translator Tarek Elgawhary

This collection of aphorisms is not only one of the most famous and celebrated throughout the Muslim world, like so many aphorisms before it, they are a gift, not just to Muslims, but to humanity and deserve to be shared, studied, memorised, and ultimately passed on. Let the commentary, therefore, be a lifelong journey with the text as its meanings unfold themselves to you day by day.

40 Prophetic Traditions on the Virtues of Rulings of the Qur'an

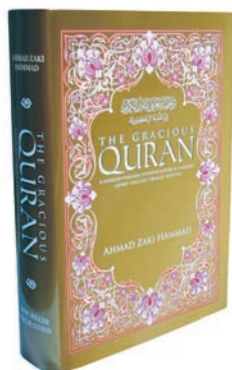

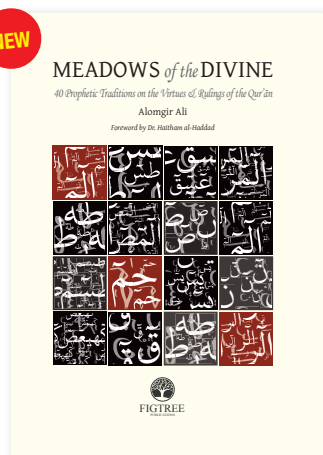

Alomgir Ali

'Indeed, this Qur'an guides to that which is most suitable and gives good tidings to the believers who do righteous deeds that they will have a great reward.' [17:9]

The book of Allah is full of an extraordinary amount and diverse array of virtues. Alongside that there are a comprehensive set of rulings governing our interaction with the Qur'an. The contents of this book will help you to discover the significant portion of this and hopefully strengthen even further the resolve to be classified amongst Allah's people: the people of His Qur'an.

A Handbook of Spiritual Medicine Ibn Daud

This is a handbook of tazkiyah or 'self-purification'. Not only does it illustrate the maladies of the human spiritual condition, it recognises the struggles and insecurities we will succumb to from time to time, and offers up the remedies too. The antidotes to our ailments are drawn from the Qur'an and authentic ahadith.

Ahmed Deedat: The Man and His Mission

Goolam Vahed

Ahmed Deedat, the son of a struggling Indian tailor in South Africa, is best known for his public defence of Islam during the heyday of apartheid and for his ceaseless missionary work for over 60 years. This book recounts his life in detail, with accompanying images, and provides a wealth of information about Islam, interfaith dialogue, religious polemics and South African anti-colonial history.
