Range Rover
Reimagined by racing green

With a legacy stretching over 25 years, Kahn® is known for its significant heritage in creating exceptional vehicles. With innovative designs, attention to detail, and a commitment to delivering luxury and refinement in every vehicle they produce. Known around the world with a reputation spanning across the continents, it was time for Kahn® to embark on a new and exciting journey to celebrate where it all began —

The launch of our groundbreaking range rover programme: racing green.

To the rear of the vehicle, a winged diffuser with additional stabilising fins reemphasises the underlying design influences of the racing green fintail edition.

Along the flanks are side skirts, bolstering the width of the vehicle with a fusion of influences from both ground effect racing machines of yesteryear and the stabilising fins found on modern fighter jets.

At the front of the vehicle, a single sweep front bumper valance which merges seamlessly into vented front bumper extensions, representing a subtle homage to the very first kahn® range rover project.

Drawing inspiration from the rich british heritage of the range rover brand, our team of designers and engineers have set out to create a vehicle that would redefine the concept of luxury suvs. Our goal is to push the boundaries of design, technology, and enhancing the brand's core values of elegance, versatility, and capability.

Months of meticulous research, conceptualization, and prototyping followed. Our team delved into the latest advancements in automotive engineering, exploring cutting-edge materials, aerodynamics, and sustainable technologies, resulting in the birth of a truly remarkable vehicle—the all-new fintail edition.
