Suggestions for Introducing and Continuing K.I.S.Trace Supplement

1) When first introducing K.I.S.Trace, especially for cases of a fussy eater, start slow with a low amount, as low as a teaspoon if necessary, and build up as close to the recommended amount as possible.

2) For hard core fussy eaters add in something palatable that horse likes. Examples can be: a small amount of molasses, ground apples, handful of sweet feed (if horse can tolerate it), you may also try making food a little damp to make the powder stick to the carriers.

3) With some horses the recommended amount can be adjusted down if horses are doing well and seem to not want to consume the recommended amount. In other words, if a horse will eat half the amount suggested and that is all they will eat then go with that till they may later decide to eat more, then up to the amount for their weight.

4) These suggestions are just that, suggestions, designed to be helpful, if needed. And remember that there are times when a fussy eater may have some kind of gastric disturbance and may need to be evaluated by a veterinarian for digestive health or weakness that may be affecting their ability to find supplements palatable or consumable.

Our desire is for horses to thrive and be healthy! Thank you for purchasing K.I.S.Trace!
