

I ♥ SEATTLE

The Pacific Northwest is an amazing area and there are many reasons to love Seattle. The beautiful views, the colorful flowers, the amazing food and the diversity of the people; these are just some of the reasons to love Seattle. Who doesn't love seeing a rainbow after the rain? When clouds clear, discover the view of Seattle as seen from Kerry Park in Eric's folk art painting.

1. Molly Moon is the owner of Molly Moon's Homemade Ice Cream and Dan Dominguez is the kitchen manager.
2. Delaney Berreth is the PR and marketing coordinator at Pacific Science Center.
3. Chuck Gittings is the Cama Beach operations manager.
4. Keith Stocker owns the Mountain View Blueberry Farm.
5. Phillip Hickock is the glassblower king at Seattle Glassblowing Studio.
6. Eric's classic chicken in the mailbox.
7. Carolyn loves working at the MoPOP Museum!
8. The Native American salmon symbol in the Northwest represents abundance and renewal.
9. Bob Donegan is the president of the Ivar's Acres of Clams.
10. Chris Garr is the chef at Ivar's of Clams.
11. Lavender Hill Farms is owned by Catherine MacNeal and loves being with her daughter.
12. Bumblebees and honeybees are abundant in Washington.
13. James Madison is a Totem Pole Carver and Tulalip Tribal Artist.
14. Changing Form is the name of the sculpture in the middle of Kerry Park.
15. David Mandapat loves being the general manager of Seattle Space Needle.
16. The phrase "Raining Cats and Dogs" fits perfectly with Seattle's rainy weather.
17. Museum of Pop Culture, aka "MoPOP" was known as the Experience Music Project.
18. If you look down from the Space Needle, you'll discover some giant spiders atop the Seattle Center Armory.
19. Ivar's Seafood Restaurant is a favorite in Seattle.
20. Pacific Science Center originally opened in 1962 and in 2010 became a City of Seattle landmark.
21. Seattle Great Wheel stands 175 feet tall.
22. Seven major cruise lines depart from Seattle almost monthly.
23. The Big Red Cranes consists of five giant container cranes along the Port of Seattle.
24. This famous stadium was established in 2002.
25. Seattle's famous Farmers Market is iconic and a must see when you visit.
26. Totem Poles appeared in 1899 in Seattle after it was accidentally stolen from the northern Tlingit Indians.
27. This pink elephant is the most photographed object in Seattle.
28. Salmon travel from fresh water to salt water every year to reproduce.
29. The Space Needle reaches 605 feet high with the light beacon being the very top.
30. 1201 Third Avenue; former name was Washington Mutual Tower.
31. You can love Seattle in the sky, on land, or in the sea.
32. On a clear day, you can see Mount Rainier from as far away as Corvallis, Oregon as well as Victoria, British Columbia.

FUN FINDS:

- ☐ The man who can juggle three fish while on a unicycle is an impressive man.
- ☐ Coffee is a favorite drink around here. How many other animals are drinking their coffee?
- ☐ It looks like Bigfoot is right at home in Seattle. Hint: He's wearing sunglasses.